KRISTIN HOWARD

M. Calladine '85

Kristin, -

To the best friend I've ever had, & will ~~the~~ ever be fortunate enough to have. Gosh, where do I start? First of all I have to thank you for each & every memory I have. (There have been quite a few, haven't there?) I think I more or less owe you my life. We've been through hell & back time & time again. - and we learned so much through it all. I don't think you could ever comprehend how much you mean to me & how much I love you. I can't believe you've put up with me this long. I've done some pretty lousy things during our friendship & in times we've doubted how long it would last. I suppose you're really right about what you said, & I've thought it over. No one can change what's happened. That's life & there's not much you can do about it. If & when we separate, I guess I'll just have to accept it. ~~And~~ And I'll never, never in my entire life forget the memories you've given me. Not just memories, but ~~the~~ you've taught me more than ~~any~~ anyone else ever has. And believe me, forever will I love you for what you've given me. Yea, I think you mean more to me than you realize. Thanks Kristin, for everything. I love you! Kelly

Kristen, You're a super-fun person to be around! Stay just the way you are! Remember the last day of school our freshman year? Oh, you better how could anyone of us forget that? Turn the page. →

Kristin,
What else can I say? You're the best friend a person could ever have. We've been through so much. I love you like my own sister. I hope we will always be as close as we've been! You've helped me through Eric and many more. I hope you can help me w/ you

Celebrating with the Sun

As with every summer vacation, these three months seemed like paradise. The usual events occurred: long-going-together couples broke up and got back together; trips to Troy, the Salem Mall, Troy-Dixie Drive-In, Putt-Putt, and the Tipp pool were common. Oh, yes, we can't forget the old "cruising," which accounted for new friendships from different towns. Excursions to King's Island, Cedar Point, and Hueston Woods were enjoyed.

Many of us put in long, yet enjoyable, hours in new experiences that taught us how to meet responsibility and, of course, how to have fun. These new experiences included summer jobs either in Tipp or in a nearby town, allowing us to save for college, that "dream" car, or the weekend.

Other experiences included attending sports camps, which improved our skills, as well as making a few of us "night owls" or "early birds." Other camps were for special interest, such as Girls' State/Boys' State, Devilaires, and yearbook.

Last, vacations with family or friends gave us new experiences as we met new people. Favorite places included Florida, Texas, and simple camping trips to nearby state parks. By the end of the summer, everyone was prepared for the Miami County Fair, where we met old friends and caught up on the latest happenings.

Finally, our celebration in the sun ended as we began a new celebration — Celebration '85. The first day of school, August 28, was one of confusion and great excitement for the new year. Freshmen wandered through the long halls, hoping to find smiling faces. The sophomores came in, knowing they weren't the babies anymore, while the juniors walked proudly as upperclassmen do. The seniors celebrated only nine more months to go. The '84-'85 school year would be the same as any other year, yet different. This year the students of THS have shown their own style, recorded in this book for their pleasure.

Celebrating in our Classes

Whether a student is college bound or job seeking after graduation, Tippecanoe offers classes for each individual's goal. Beside the fundamental academics of language, science, math, and social studies, students are also given the choice of speciality courses in business, practical arts, music, social sciences, mass communications, and computer literacy. THS also offers advanced courses in science and math, as well as SIS (Special Interest Seminar) for qualified upper-level students who wish to do specialized research and projects. In addition, THS offers advanced courses in OWE work study program for juniors and seniors. While keeping THS as their "home" school for extracurricular sports and activities, other students attend Montgomery County Joint Vocational School for specialized vocational training in their junior and senior years.

However, it's not just the courses offered at THS that makes the good learning atmosphere. With a student-teacher ratio of 21-1, Tippecanoe ranks above the national average on the ACT and SAT. It also rates in the eighty-seventh percentile on tests of achievement and proficiency. Perhaps this is partially accounted for by the faculty of staff members, 45% of whom hold master's degrees or above.

As a result, Tippecanoe sends approximately fifty percent of the graduates to four-year colleges and universities, while five percent attend junior or community colleges and ten percent attend technical or business schools.

This page: a. Although a fifteen-minute run isn't fun at first, freshmen are still required to do it in the physical fitness class. Brian Stockslager enjoys his rigorous run. b. Definitely having an event to celebrate, Larry Weaver, Sharon Davis, Maria Fischer, Don Heckman, and Amanda Seybold are inducted into the National Honor Society. c. Although most classes are interesting, there are always those days our eyelids get a little heavy.

Randy Hatfield rest for awhile during class. d. As everyone knows, in order to have fun you have to make fun. After four years, the fun comes easily for Jim Carson during marching band rehearsal. e. Juniors Matt Timmer and Jeanette Malafa listen to a fellow classmate's presentation in public speaking class. f. Along with the classes come the lectures. Mrs. DeMarco's freshman class listens attentively to the rules of grammar. Opposite page: a. Even though Mrs. DeMarco's room is freezing all year around, the celebration by the senior English class never ends. Tracey Rigby enjoys her final year at Tippecanoe. b. The silence of study hall helps us carry fewer books home. Junior Chris Gilliam breaks the quiet with a big smile. c. A new tradition at Tippecanoe, WTHS provides humor and music to the "Morning Show" announcements and during all lunches. Senior Jeff Varvel tapes the next day's songs to be played during lunch. d. A "must" for all students, the typing classes provide the basics of all typing skills. Jenny Cobb learns the fundamentals in Personal Typing. e. The business department includes typing, shorthand, and accounting. Sophomore Lacy Owens balances her books in accounting. f. Practical arts classes are available to all students. Todd Michaelson and Mark Ray sand their wood projects.

Page 6: a. The boys varsity basketball team shows off their SRC league trophy after defeating Milton. The team's athletic ability was evident as they earned the title of sectional champs and went on to play in the district tournament. b. Sophomore Walt Neubauer runs the long course. d. It takes much time and a lot of patience to mold a perfect pot. Mark Caldwell softens his clay for the potters' wheel. e. Keeping in step, remembering the whole routine, and always smiling looks easy only from a spectator's view.

talented students. Andy Turner, Erin Pfeifer, and Bret Arnett contribute their talent during the halftime show. d. # Celebrating with our Abilities

Keeping the beat, shooting eighty-five percent from the foul line and sketching a model or art are examples of students' abilities at Tuppercreek. Of course it takes many hours during the summer and after school to become SRC champions or to earn a superior rating at an OMEA state contest. However, the time that each student puts into extracurricular activities and fine arts classes at THS is evident to any outside person by the many performances of talent and the amount of student pride shown throughout the year.

Approximately sixty-six percent of Tuppercreek's student body are involved in outside activities. These time-consuming endeavors include thirty-one separate teams, of which fifteen compete in the Southwestern Rivers Conference. Besides being a part of the athletic program, students may also participate in one or more of the eighteen clubs and organizations. Eight of these clubs involve students interested in music, while two clubs nationally and internationally recognize academically outstanding young people.

Besides the "interest" clubs, Tuppercreek offers varied courses in art and practical arts classes of industrial arts and home economics. Each department requires a basic class. From there, students may choose specific areas in that field, such as ceramics, wood technology, and singles living. The art department offers thirteen courses, while industrial arts has seven and home economics has four.

At Tuppercreek we celebrate our abilities and talents, whether they be athletic, musical, practical, or graphic, and we are proud of us.

Celebrating Football's Victory

The 1984 Homecoming game was truly here. We had had an eventful Spirit Week which had really put us in a good positive attitude for a victory in the game against the Graham Factors.

Student Senate chose the theme Enchanted Forest for Homecoming. Posters with the theme or they decorated the school and town store windows. The field had been spray painted and streamers and balloons hung everywhere.

During the game, crowds carried return balloons and helped to release them into the night after the Royal Court was announced. King and Queen for Homecoming were Todd Hartine and Anita Evans.

All the football cheerleaders including reserve and freshman cheerleaders were out for the game. They really helped the crowd shout the Devil team to a win.

Luck, spirit, and effort finally paid off as the Red Devils burned the Factors 33-0. Although it turned out to be Tapp's only victory for the year. I was one to be remembered because it was Homecoming.

After the game students realized more fun was yet to come. Saturday night they were to spend a night in an Enchanted Forest.

port students showed the team throughout its 11th season and E. King was an athlete who earned an esp. at a speech at Thursday night to the crowd. E. King's quiet leadership was valued not only by the team but also by the school this year. The 1984 Homecoming Court featured attendant and escort Tess Tannauer and her Henry home attendant and escort, and the Wampler senior mascot and escort Kaitlyn and off valet queen and king Antia Evans and Todd Hanson. Homecoming and escort Rhonda Frazier and Mike King were the attendants and escort. Mary Frazier and Kevin Mader and 1983 Homecoming queen and escort and her escort.

Celebrating Dance's Enchantment

An "Enchanted Forest," the theme chosen by Student Senate, made the Homecoming dance special. Real autumn leaves on the floors gave off to good effect the scent one smells in a woods. Two murals, one rented from Columbus and another made by senior Mike Calladine, hung from the north ceiling and east walls. Couples danced among trees of different kinds and enjoyed breaks of punch and cookies.

WYMJ's disc jockey Dan Edwards played a fine array of songs for the dance and helped to set a pleasant atmosphere.

In addition, candles and booklets naming the Royal Court decorated each table. Leaves with the names of the couples hung from a sprawling tree made by Student Senate. As they left, couples picked the leaves as a memento of their wonderful evening.

All who attended felt a thank-you should go to the students who put on an "enchanted" evening for their enjoyment

Michelle Peters, Deena Tinderholm, Jenny Cobb, Karen Spahr and Pam Neary, standing behind Julie Kress and Alexa McGrady, realize that a part of Homecoming is spending it with your friends.

Celebrating Upbeat Music

Music, the cafeteria or gym, and THS students can only add up to a DANCE. There were many during the '85 school year. Student Senate and the cheerleaders started them out with a couple of dances on the tennis courts. This was definitely a super idea to combat the heat that would have collected if they had been held inside. Fortunately, as winter drew closer, they were moved back indoors.

With the variety of students at THS, of course, there was a variety of tastes in music.

Everything from Top 40 to Rock-and-Roll, to Heavy Metal, to Sixties' Rock were popular.

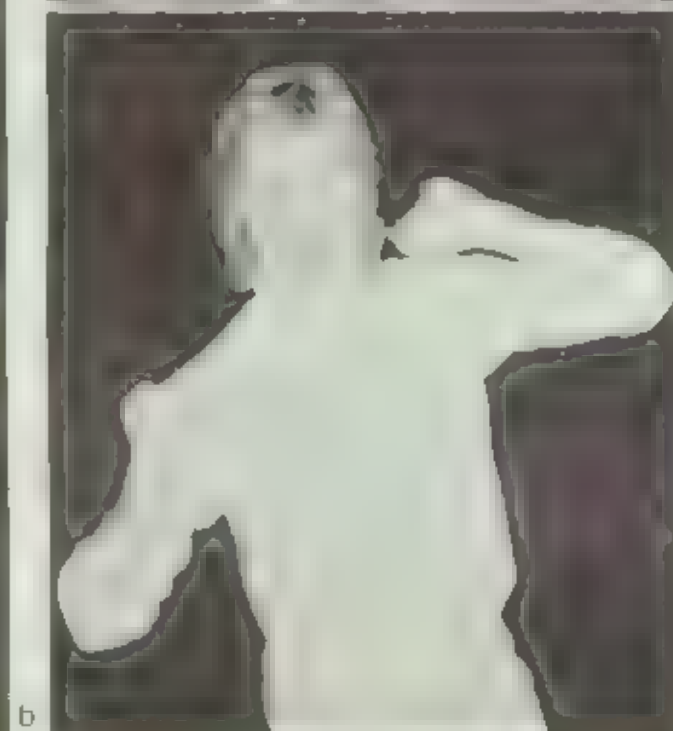

Among the favorite pop artists were Madonna and "Crazy For You", Duran Duran's "Wild Boys", Prince and the New Power Generation and "Raspberry Beret", and Wham's "Careless Whisper".

Bruce Springsteen and "Born In the U.S.A." was a hit. Diehard Rock-and-Roll fans at THS also liked the popular remake of Van Halen's "California Girls."

Heavy Metal with Twisted Sister's "I Wanna

na Rock" and "Round and Round" by Ratt had its share of the spotlight. Sixties' music continued to be enjoyed by a number of students. The groups The Doors and Led Zeppelin with their songs "Light My Fire" and "Good Times Bad Times", respectively, were popular.

Many types of dance were also put to music, breaking being the noticeable. The year 1985 stands out as a banner year for THS students celebrating upbeat music.

Page 18: a. Ron Forman enjoys the music at the Coming-Home dance. This was a turnabout dance held by the junior class in March. b. Everyone has her own style of dancing. # Celebrating Students' Talents Show Times — April 18, 19, 20 Theater — Central's auditorium. Musical — Li'l Abner. A showcase for THS acting and singing talent, the spring drama production started with rehearsals in March, delayed because of snow days. In addition, director Jan Bishop had to remain at home, awaiting the birth of her son. Assistant directors Jenny Puckett, directing the production, Deb Bringman, conducting the chorus and soloists, Alan Smith, applying the correct set and Dave Werts, lighting the set, and doing lighting, took over and brought the show to perfection by opening night.

Set in Dogpatch, U.S.A., Li'l Abner opens with the characters introducing themselves by singing a few lines. The plot revolves around Daisy Mae attempting to "catch" bachelor Li'l Abner. Unfortunately, she is continually defeated by Mammy Yokum's Yokumberry tonic, by General Bullmoose and his "confidential" secretary Apassionata, or by the tough wrestler Earthquake McGoon, who loves Daisy Mae.

An additional complication arises when Dogpatch is chosen as a government A-bomb testing site. Unless something essential is found, Dogpatch must be evacuated. Because Yokumberries seem to be the answer, Li'l Abner, Marryn' Sam, and several puny Dogpatch bachelors go to Washington, D.C., to test the tonic. The greedy General Bulmoose, who wants the rights to the tonic, tricks backwoods Li'l Abner into agreeing to marry Apassionata.

Earthquake McGoon says he will save Li'l Abner if Daisy Mae promises to marry him. He gives up the idea only after meeting her "Unlikeable" relatives — Unsociable, Unwashable, etc. In the end, Daisy Mae does marry Li'l Abner. Dogpatch is saved because it is discovered that Abraham Lincoln had proclaimed its statue of Jubilation T. Cornpone a national monument. All live happily ever after.

The audience, like the Dogpatchers, left the auditorium filled with happiness. The tuneful songs and happy choreography filled their thoughts.

Celebrating Class Time Outs

They often seem few and far between, but assemblies do occur at THS. There was a wide variety this year from traditional pep rallies to movies, to bands, and even a talent show.

Pep rallies generally took place the day of a big sporting event. Clever skits were performed by the cheerleaders, as well as team introductions, coach talks, pep band music and lots of traditional cheering.

West Side Story was shown before Christmas break. Enjoyment lasted quite some time as everyone walked around the school clicking their fingers for several weeks thereafter. Later, the seniors had a special treat; the movie Trading Places was shown just for their class.

Several groups came and performed for us as we celebrated more class time outs. Flight 1 from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base was a big hit. The Christian rock group Sunshine Express displayed their musical ability by playing "Top 40" songs.

Using only the strength of their muscles, Power, another Christian group demonstrated for the students some pretty fantastic stunts at another assembly.

A talent show held this spring was a great success with many students and several teachers performing. Vapash, with Jeff

a

Varvel, Ron Patton, and Brian Shift, was a favorite of the audience with renditions of "Method of Modern Love" and "Ghost Busters." Shattered Glass, a musical group made up of students and teachers, did a great job also. Shana Gaston performed a dance and Chuck Wray, one of our business teachers, sang "Only You."

And so we spent another year celebrating our time out.

Celebrating Dance's Class

Prom 1985 seemed far away when plans for it began in late spring of 1984. Over the summer the committee members checked possible places where it could be held, finally deciding on the Mandalay Banquet Center south of Dayton. The junior class had only started, as much work still needed to be done.

Money-makers for the formal affair included spirit stickers, the traditional M & M candy sale, and dances sponsored after sports events. The most popular, and most successful, dance was the Coming-Home

Dance, a turnabout Homecoming dance, held in March. Decorations for this dance included black and purple balloons, old boxes and tires, and even toilet paper! Girls asked guys, though it wasn't mandatory, and pictures were taken. A royal court, with the king and queen chosen from the freshman class, was voted upon by the student body.

During the 1984-85 school year, the main decisions concerning Prom were made. The class chose the theme A Touch of Class. To carry out this theme, silver and gold metallic balloons, interspersed with pastel-colored balloons, were used. Candles in brandy snifters decorated the tables. A memory book and engraved glasses served as party favors. (con't. on page 26)

Celebrating Dance's Class

Several weeks before the Prom the Royal Court was voted on by the juniors and seniors. Elected as senior attendant and escort were Jill Wallach and Todd Cook. Maid of honor and her escort were Lisa Hoke and Dan Burchett. Chosen king and queen were Jeff Varvel and Debbie Trout.

The evening of the dance, April 27th, finally arrived. Couples dined at a number of Dayton restaurants, including the Tropics, Anticoli's, and Stouffer's. The dance began at 8 p.m. Music previously taped by senior Jeff Varvel was enjoyed by everyone.

Although the Prom ended at 11 p.m., the night was still young. An After-Prom, though not school sponsored, was held at Skateworld in Vandana from 1 a.m. to 5 a.m. Sunday morning skating, pool, and video games were available. The movie Purple Rain, starring Prince and the New Power Generation, was shown. A number of couples concluded the evening with breakfast. Several spent Sunday afternoon at King's Island.

Prom '85 definitely had its "Touch of Class" because of the planning and efforts of the officers of the junior class and their committee chairmen. Many thanks and congratulations go to them for providing such a fantastic evening

Celebrating Scholars' Achievements

May was the month set aside to recognize outstanding academic achievement by THS students. Tuesday, May 14, a banquet was held in the gym to honor the top 70 scholars, based on overall point average. After Dr. Beidler addressed the group, parents watched proudly as their young people went forward to receive their awards.

The Top Scholars Banquet not only honored students in grade 10-12 but also retiring teachers Stewart King, Helen Stuewing, Mildred Wilhelm, Dorothy Zimmerman, and Martha Tollefson. In addition, Tim Zigler, named Teacher of the Year for the Tipp City Schools, received a silver platter.

For their dedicated service to the Tipp community, Dr. Robert E. Beidler and Mrs. Beidler were recognized at both the Top Scholars Banquet and Awards Night. Dr. Beidler retired this year after sixteen years of service as superintendent of schools.

The second major event was Awards Night, held at L. T. Ball Middle School on May 23 at 7 p.m. Students were recognized for outstanding achievement in the areas of service and scholarship. After presentations were made, punch and cookies made by the home economics students were served.

Awards given were as follows:
Valedictorian: Eric Long

Girl's Give Their Best But Suffer Losses

Posting a 2-5 league record, the 1984 team ended with a record of 5 wins and 16 losses but never gave up their drive to win. The season started badly with many girls experiencing illnesses, including a senior, Susan Turner, out with mono. Although the season was a losing one, the record is not the only thing that counts. All of the girls remember the season as a learning experience and all agree that it was lots of fun. High hopes and spirits for the 1985 season dominate the eight returning lettermen's thoughts.

Special honors went to Kim Brubaker, who received the Red Devil award, was named 2nd team, All-League, and was chosen for the District 9 All-Star team. Also, Lisa Peters earned a 1st team, All-League award; Sharon Davis was named All-League, honorable mention and Most Improved.

Page 32: a. Waiting for the opponent's serve. Deena Tinderholm and Kim Little, both juniors, ready themselves for a good volley. b. Concentration is the key to a good serve. ## Skill and Teamwork Pay Off For Reserves

Strong Reserves Promise Bright Future

SPiRiT' determination, and aggressiveness characterized the winning 1984 reserve volleyball and football teams. Coach Rogers said, "These qualities made the girls thoroughly enjoyable to watch and to coach." Coach Hopkins said of the boys, "They gave of their time, energy, talents, stamina, strength, and skills to help the group achieve success."

Although both teams played inconsistently at times, each, more often, was controlled and even dominating. When they needed to, each team did what it needed to win. Working on improving individual skills and learning good teamwork made these reserves the winners they showed themselves to be.

Red Devils Face Tough Competition

Spirit and Courage Lead the Team

b

This year the football team went through many challenges and trials.

At the beginning of the year, the previous year's season record was still fresh in the minds of many. The Devils had enough pride and push to try to forget it all.

The first few games were against really tough competition, but the Red Devils put the losses behind them. After much trial and error, the Devils finally put it all together and crushed the Graham Falcons 33-0. Then the Devils weren't getting it together anymore. The season ended with only one victory, the one on Homecoming night.

The team was very special to the individuals who played. Red Devil Rodney Boggs, always keeping the team's spirits up, was backed by captain Eric Long and the heart of the team. Special awards were Eric Long, Offensive Back and McDermott Award, Offensive Lineman, Mark Beckman; Defensive Lineman, Brian Blakley; Defensive Back, Jon Richard; Kicking Game, Mitch Koogler; and Bingo Award, Daryl Bowling.

We may not have a trophy, but we'll never forget the spirit and courage of the 1984 Red Devil varsity football team.

Devils Capture League For Second Year

AWESOME! is the perfect word to describe the 1984 soccer season. Although the team was very young, with six freshmen and only two seniors, the players "clicked" early in the season under the leadership of tri-captains Chris Miller, Mike Dean, and Bryan Lewis. This quality allowed the team to produce a winning season of 9-3-3, losing only to area ranked teams.

For the second straight year, the Red Devils took the SRC championship title with a 3-0-1 record. Thirteen of the thirty-four goals scored during the season occurred in league play. Not only did the team take home the league championship, but also they set many records throughout the season. Among them were best record, most shutouts (9), most shutouts in a row (6), most consecutive scoreless quarters (25), most goals in a game (7), most goals scored in a season (34), and least goals allowed in a season (17). Besides their team records, the Red Devils also captured many individual honors.

As Chris Miller said, "With ten starters coming back off a team who suffered their only losses to area ranked teams, how could anyone deny that Tipp soccer could be a team to reckon with next year?"

Page 38: a. Taking advantage of the situation, junior Sean McVity gets a breakaway against Sidney. Sean earned his second varsity letter this year with the help of two goals against Stebbins. b. # Girls Promote Red Devil Spirit

With the aid of many enthusiastic students and adults, the fall cheerleaders started the year with a bang. Beginning in August, the cheerleaders planned a big Meet-the-Team evening at the park field. After all introductions were made, red and white balloons were sent off by the Red Devil mascots, senior Monica Dillman and freshman Tammy Biser.

The varsity football cheerleaders held a swim party at Clearwater Pool with the players. Also, during summer practices they provided cool snacks for the team at noon.

Concentrating more on school spirit, the cheerleaders, under captain Shelly Gilbert and co-captain Anita Evans, hung signs around school each week and threw footballs and candy during halftime. For the traditional Homecoming game, the varsity squad decorated the locker room and the field house.

Hoping for another SRC league championship team, the varsity soccer squad started the season with a Soccer Send-Off at the first home game against Milton. Numbered balloons were sold and at halftime prizes were given and the balloons were let go. But the raffles didn't stop there. The squad sold raffle tickets at all home games. Large candy bars, pop, and coupons were given as prizes. Also, with the help of Rogers' Insurance, ten dollars was given away to a high school student attending the game. All the money raised by the varsity soccer cheerleaders went toward the spaghetti dinner for the team at the end of the season. Other activities, under the advisorship of Mrs. Warner, captain Cindy Heitkamp, and co-captain Dawn Hines, included making senior scrap books, and decorating the field at each home league game. The cheerleaders also introduced another cheer for their fans, who always "leaned to the left."

Another squad that had a busy year, the reserve football cheerleaders led by captain Aimee Stump and co-captain Tracy Gagnet, began by attending camp at Indiana University. The reserve squad also helped the varsity squad decorate for Homecoming, pay for the summer noon treats, and make the cookies before Homecoming. In addition they held their own extra summer practices.

Girls Tennis Has Fun In Rebuilding Year

The girls' tennis team finished the season with a 3-11 record in what can be called a rebuilding year. The combination of three girls graduating and two girls moving forced all the players to move up five spots in the line-up. Junior Kelly Ryan played the number one single's spot all year, while juniors Alexa McGrady and Jenny Cobb played the second and third single's spots. Doubles were freshman Heather LeGros and sophomore Wendy Brumley at first doubles, and sophomore Amy Spahr and junior Betsy Krise played second doubles.

Four players earned their reserve "T", including sophomore Michelle Kubal and freshmen Cheryl Sills, Tess Donauer, and Erin Pfeiffer. Since the team contained no seniors, the entire squad will be back next season.

Sophomore Amy Spahr said the team was made up of "a bunch of neat girls with lots of talent." She added that the team had "a lot of fun even though we didn't have a winning record. It will be nice looking forward to next year's season."

Page 42: Sophomore Michelle Kubal hits a forehand return on the home court. Michelle earned her second-year reserve letter at first-reserve position. b. The boys cross-country team placed fourth in the SRC this year and finished the season with a 44-62 record. The girls were second in the SRC and finished with a 24-36 record. The boys were led by senior Todd Hartline, who was All-League for his third straight year and the only district qualifier for the boys team. The girls best runner was sophomore Leslie Judy, who was also First Team, All-SRC and a district qualifier. Other fine performers for the girls were Kristen Risch and Jill Moore, Second Team, All-League and district qualifiers. Both teams had many fine first year runners, and with the experience they have gained from this year, both teams are looking for even more improved performances next year.

SUPER best describes the golf team's season this year. The Red Devils won the SRC championship for the third year in a row. The team compiled a 13-5 dual-meet record. In the sectional tournament they fired a fine 312 to finish second and qualify for the district tournament. In district competition, the Tippecanoe golfers finished third this year and missed qualifying for the state tournament by one place.

Todd Thomas, the terrific new freshman said, "I enjoyed my first season on the golf team, and I think the team played great." Added senior Dave Reineke, "Although I didn't meet all my personal goals, I've really enjoyed playing golf for Tipp."

Page 46: a. Taking a practice putt, outstanding freshman Todd Thomas readies for a home match at Cliffside Golf Course. Besides setting many course records, Todd finished two strokes away from qualifying for the state tournament. b. Although David Reineke didn't achieve his own personal goals, he did provide positive senior leadership, which is needed for a successful season. c. Team members Dave Reineke, Bill Trout, and Kevin McClurg, along with second year Coach Wray, anxiously await the final results. d. Junior Deron Fischer, who added balance to the team, studies a putt. Deron contributed a score of 35 to the win over Miami East. The lowest score ever obtained at Tippecanoe was a 31. e. Another sharp shooter of the golf team was junior Jason Hadden. Jason shot a 76 at district and missed state by only one stroke. Page 47: a. Looking for a bright future in the golf program at Tippecanoe, freshman Kevin McClurg shows the form which enabled him to shoot an eighty-three at the district tournament. b. ALL-LEAGUE — the status to which most Tippecanoe High School athletes aspire. To be an All-Southwestern Rivers Conference player, one must do well in the sport, both as an individual and as a team player. This player must be able to boost team morale to get the team ready and going for both practices and games. All-League quality must shine through at all times

In the fall, many Tipp athletes were honored with this title, while some achieved even greater recognition. The football team had three players receive honorable mention: Mark Beckman, Rodney Boggs, and Jon Richard

The volley ball team was led by honorable mention player Sharon Davis, second team All-League member Kim Brubaker, and first team All-League player Lisa Peters.

The cross-country team was led by second team runners Kristen Risch and Jill Moore, and by first team runners Todd Hartline and Leslie Judy.

The golf team boasted two honorable mention players: Kevin McClurg and Deron Fischer; two second team players, Todd Thomas and Bill Trout; and Jason Hadden, first team All-SRC.

The soccer team contributed many players to the All-League group: Chris Miller and Bryan Lewis, honorable mention; Mike Dean, Shawn Hodges, Tim Ording, and Matt Timmer, first team. Three members of the soccer team also received higher honors — Tim Ording, honorable mention All Area, and Shawn Hodges, first team All-Area, as well as an impressive first team All-State

Hard work and dedication paid off. Congratulations to all of these players.

Girls Post Best Season Ever

This year's 20-2 varsity Lady Red Devil basketball squad had the best record ever in the history of THS.

The season started with a few scrimmages to some far-off places. On one of these long drives the "roller coaster" was invented along with additional verses of "Bang-Bang Lulu." A man named Crusty was deemed the team mascot and everyone on the team turned "crusty." On one of the various trips taken during the season, the team toured a series of parking lots, thanks to Coach.

As the season progressed, they found that the formula for their team's success was playing everyone behind the leadership of co-captains Shanda Fry and Jennifer Peavley, and it worked. In the middle of the season, they had several weeks without a game. Then, all at once, a grueling NBA-type schedule began. Playing every other day was the time that team unity and spirit helped them all.

After winning the league championship against Covington, they had their infamous net-cutting ceremony. It lasted at least an hour. After all, it was their first.

After that, tournament season began. At tournament they went as far as district finals but were beaten by Kenton Ridge. Along the way, they collected the Sectional title and many kind remarks concerning their class and poise.

This team truly followed the coach's words: "Go out there and do the best that you are capable of doing." They were terrific.

Four Compete at State Meet

Wrestlers Tie All-Time Record

The 1984-85 wrestling team posted the best season in the history of Tippecanoe wrestling. These fourteen young men, behind captains Doug Stankus, Richard Warner, and Bryan Lewis, participated in what could be called a dream season. Their dual-meet record was an outstanding 7-0-1. They placed fifth behind four triple-A teams at the Holiday Tournament and first at the Troy Wayne, Eaton, SRC, District, and Regional tournaments.

There are bound to be records broken during a season like this, and this year was no exception. The team broke the record for the margin of victory in a dual meet with an incredible 72-0 score over Dayton Christian. The wrestlers also managed to tie the all-time season pin record of 102.

Doug Stankus, Bryan Lewis, Dan Burchett, Kelly Spurlock, Jerry Miller, and Richard Warner all made the trip to regionals. Stankus, Lewis, Burchett, and Warner emerged in the top four places. At the state tournament Tipp managed to place two wrestlers. Doug Stankus and Bryan Lewis each took fifth place.

This team set the standards by which all future teams will be judged. The hard work the seniors put in for four years paid off with a dream season. The pressure is now on next year's squad to continue what was started in 1985.

Teams Show Hustle and Desire to Win

Reserves and Frosh Master the Basics

Learning the basics, gaining experience, and playing hard marked the freshman and reserve basketball seasons. The 7-7 freshman team lost five of its games by only one or two points. Drills and games taught them to work as a team rather than as individuals. Under Coach Ballinger they learned the hamburger drill, the world reverse slam dunk, and the 360 double-pump, behind-the-head slam, not to mention learning to eat a Wilson burger without chewing it!

The reserve team's season started with a bang by taking the Tip-Off Tournament, played at Milton. They were 6-0 going into the game against Troy, where they suffered an overtime defeat. From that point on they had a roller-coaster season, winning a few and losing a few, but never out of reach of victory in any of the losses. Displaying hustle and desire to win, the team learned from the long, hard practices and weekly scrimmages against the varsity. Under coach Misenko they prepared to continue the winning THS basketball tradition.

Wampler Leads Team to Successful Season

Boys Drive All the Way to District Finals

The 1984-85 season for the boys varsity basketball team is one that will be remembered for a long time because of the honors received and the terrific 18-4 record.

The team kicked off a season of success by winning the first annual Tip-Off tourney by beating Miami East, Milton-Union, and Bethel. That was only the beginning. Key games such as Brookville and Covington led to the Red Devil's victorious effort against Springfield Catholic Central in the league championship game on February 18. The crowd saw both sides as having control in that game until the final seconds when the Devils emerged as league champions.

The end of February marked the beginning of tournament. The Devils opened with a squeaker against Miami East, winning in overtime by two points. After defeating Indian Lake and Kenton Ridge, the Devils progressed to the district finals where they lost to Cincinnati McNicholas.

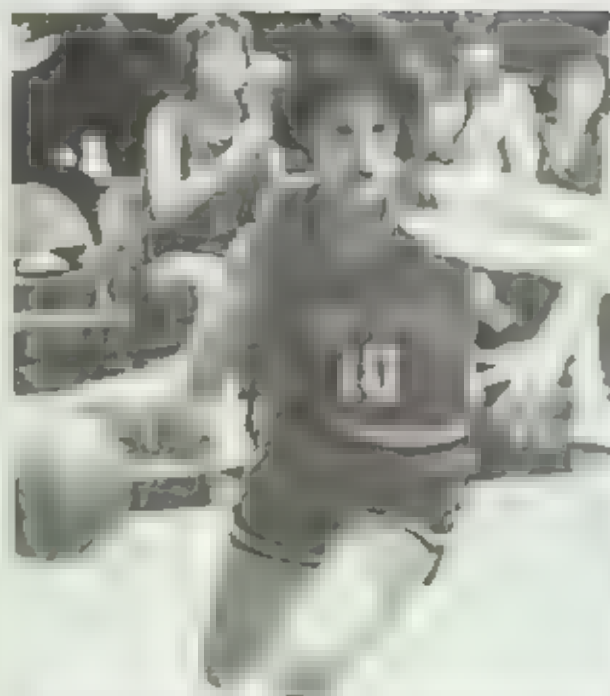

Many received individual honors. Best Rebounder, Chris Wampler; Best Free Throw Percentage, Chris Wampler; Best Defense, Jeff Varvel, and Red Devil, Chris Wampler. In the league Chris Wampler and Jason Hadden were named to the First Team, All-League. Shaun McGinnis and Jeff Miller received Honorable Mention. Chris Wampler was also named area Scoring Champion, according to the Troy Daily News. He was also named to First Team, All-Southwestern Ohio, Second Team (AP) and Third Team (UPI) All-State.

THS Grabs Best Winter Season Ever

Many athletes attained All-League status during the winter season. These deserving athletes worked hard during the off season to help propel their teams to a winning season — a season which saw Tippecanoe take every SRC championship!

The varsity girls basketball team had four players named to the All-SRC team. Sophomore Kristen Risch and senior Tracy Martin received Honorable Mention. For the second year in a row, junior Jennifer Lowry and senior Shanda Fry received First Team All-League awards. Jennifer and Shanda also received All-District 9 awards. In addition, Shanda received All-State Honorable Mention.

The varsity boys basketball team also had four players named to All-SRC. Junior Jeff Miller and senior Shaun McGinnis received Honorable Mention. Juniors Jason Hadden and Chris Wampler received First Team All-League honors. Chris was also named area scoring champ, First Team All-Southwestern Ohio, Second Team (AP) and Third Team (UPI) All-State.

The varsity wrestlers had the most players mentioned to the All-League team. Four players were named Honorable Mention: sophomore Jeff Ruff, junior Brian Bowser, junior Jerry Miller, and senior Richard Warner. Juniors Chris Gilliam and Mike Sampley received Second Team All-League honors. First team honors were given to three Tipp wrestlers: junior Bryan Lewis, senior Dan Burchett and senior Doug Stankus.

Reserves Gain Learning Experience

The spirit of the winter cheerleaders carried through to the spring season, especially in the team oriented softball games

This year's reserve softball team was very young and gained a lot of experience under first year coach Mr. Misenko. Although the girls didn't have a winning season, they were always determined to do their best and proud to see the improvement their hard work brought. Aimee Stump remarked, "As a team, we improved and kept improving all season long." Overall most of the girls agreed that this was a fun and rewarding season

Girls Undergo Tough Season

The varsity softball team had many ups and downs in their season. The team consisted of one freshman, five sophomores, four juniors, and four seniors. Seven of the girls were returning starters.

This year's season was a difficult one because the team faced ten AAA teams, and beat only three of them. One of the most memorable games of the year was the close game between Brookville and the Red Devils with our girls victorious 9 to 8.

Coach Wildermuth's support was constant as was the girls' effort even though the season wasn't a winning one.

Red Devil Jennifer Peavley, Best Batting Average receiver Kelli Stambaugh, and Defense receiver Karen Spahr worked together to help make the season fun, enthusiastic, and one that no one will ever forget.

Page 54: a. Angie Martino releases her powerful pitch. b. While playing second Michelle Peters snags the ball to make an important play. During the season Michelle hit three doubles. c. # Girls Produce Best Season Ever

The 1985 girls track team had the best season ever! Undeclared for most of the season, the girls lost only six times.

The season started before basketball season was even over. Many team members worked during pre-season to improve their times and strength. Obviously, this hard work paid off to produce the excellent season. Those that worked harder attained team awards: Jill Moore, Most Improved; Jenny Frank, Red Devil.

When tournament time came, the girls were at peak performance, which carried many of them to the state meet. The runners that went to participate at state were Jennifer Lowry, high jump; Jill Moore, 100 m. low hurdles; Terri Hatcher, long jump and 200 m. dash; 400 m. relay team Kim Copter, Jennifer Aber, Terri Hatcher, Michele Eustache; 800 m. relay team M. Eustache, J. Aber, J. Moore, T. Hatcher; 1600 m. relay Jenny Frank, Kristen Risch, J. Moore, and M. Eustache; 3200 m. relay J. Frank, K. Risch, Leslie Judy, and Vickie Leiter.

In addition, many of the runners broke school records during the season: 1600 m. relay, 4:08.13; 800 m. relay, 1:45.94; 400 m. relay, 50.48; 200 m. dash (Terri Hatcher), 26.1; 300 m. low hurdles (Jill Moore), 49.1; high jump (Jennifer Lowry), 5' 3"; shuttle hurdles (Lowry, Jane Slattery, Sarah Heil, Moore), 1.10.8.

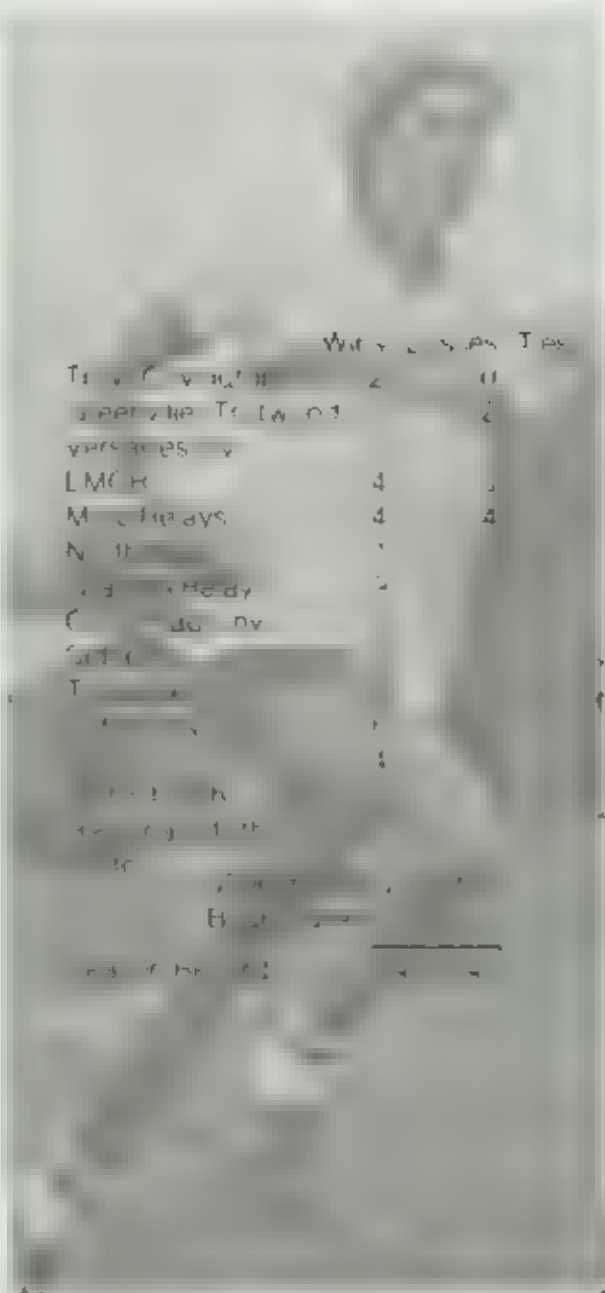

Because most of the team members were underclassmen, the girls look forward to an equally good, or even better, year in '86.

Page 66: a. Sophomore Vickie Leiter gives her all for the last 100 of the 800 meter relay. b. Sprinting through the shuttle hurdles, Jill Moore shows the form that got her to state. Page 67: a. Concentration is a big part in throwing the discus, and Rhonda Fritzsche takes her time. Rhonda was the number one discus thrower for the team. b. Sarah Heil attacks the hurdles at the beginning of the race. Sarah had a difficult time during the year because she was behind a few faster runners. c. Just after cutting in from her first lap of the 100, Kristen Risch thinks of her final lap. A sparkplug of the team, Kristen always kept everyone's spirits up. d. After jumping at the high jump, Jennifer Lowry takes a break. Jennifer went to the state meet but missed the starting height. e. Michelle Eustache to Jennifer Aber — a dynamite hand-off that helped the 400 meter relay team get to state. The speed of the 400 meter relay team is evident because of the fifth place finish at state.

The boys track team was very inexperienced this year because most of the runners were freshmen and sophomores. The runners gained valuable experience that will help them in future years.

Although most were inexperienced, some very hard workers received special honors. Chris Wampler received Red Devil and Mike Frank received Most Improved. The 3200m relay team of Chris Wampler, Todd Hartline, Ron Fritzsche, and Eric Long went to state meet and placed thirteenth. Brian Cullen went to state meet and placed fifth. At the league, district, and regional track meets, Brian placed first. During the season, Brian Cullen broke the long standing polevault record and reset it to 14' 1/2".

This year's experience should lead to better records in the future years.

This year the tennis team made it through an even season — 8 wins and 8 losses. The team was coached by Tom 'Dean' Cochran. The two seniors, Brian Shilt and Shaun McGinnis, led the team and tried to keep them out of trouble. The team may not have a winning record, but they did have fun.

The number one singles spot was filled by sophomore Shawn Hodges. Shawn played his best against some of the best competition in the state. He was seeded for fourth in sectionals. Senior Shaun McGinnis played the number two singles position. Shaun played very consistently against tough competition. Senior Brian Shilt filled the final singles spot. Brian changed positions with Shaun and went undefeated for over ten matches.

Randy Stark and Chris Aselage played in the number one doubles position. They were one of the best teams in the area. Their patient style frustrated opponents and won them many matches. The number two doubles team was a threesome that was constantly switching: Sean Drees, Brian Luken, and Brian Geurts.

Not only did this team work hard, but they also had fun. New friendships were made, as was team spirit. Most of the team will be back and have a great deal of potential to be very good in years to come.

Liette Leads Team with 1.95 E.R.A.

Boys Varsity Faces Tough Competition

The varsity baseball team suffered through a disappointing 6-14 season in which they played three of the top ten teams in the state

Jim Liette led the Devils in the pitching department with a 4-4 record and an impressive 1.95 e.r.a. Jim's fine year earned him a spot on the all-conference First Team. Hard-luck pitcher Matt Lightle didn't earn any wins but posted a sparkling 2.07 e.r.a.

Captain Jeff Varvel and Kevin Severtis each hit .317 as they both garnered Best Hitter award for the campaign. Liette smacked four home runs; Varvel, two; and Severtis and Jason Hadden each collected one. Playing first base, Matt Lightle was the outstanding defensive player with a .963 fielding percentage.

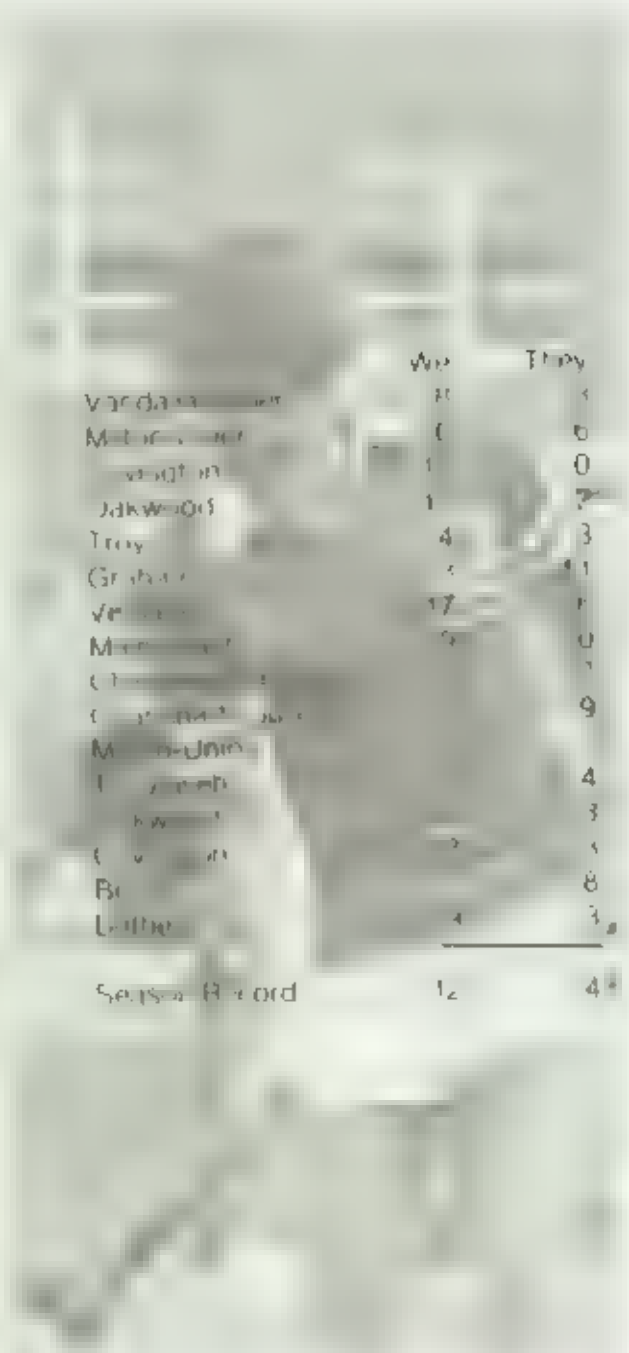

Although the team lost six outstanding seniors, many younger players earned playing time and will try to improve on this season's record.

Page 72: a. Chris Miller tags out a runner. Chris aided the team by playing third base. b. Matt Lightle starts his swing as the ball nears. Matt had the best fielding average at .963. c. Out! # Young Hurlers Look Toward Varsity

The 1985 reserve baseball team posted a fine 12-4 record mainly due to fine pitching and consistent hitting. Kevin Mader and Kevin McClurg led the young Tipp hurlers by posting 6-2 and 5-2 records respectively. In one contest, Mader struck out 18 of 21 batters he faced in route to 85 strikeouts in just 52 innings for the season.

John Baudendistel (.455), Tim Papp (.370), and Jeff Elan (.340) led the team in batting.

Other highlights for the year included a 6-1 record in the SRC, a .319 team batting average and 2.53 ERA for the pitching staff.

With the excellence of the reserve baseball team, it's easy to see that many players would be honored with an All-League title.

The baseball team had three players honored. The two honorable mention players were seniors Jeff Varvel and Kevin Severtis. Jim Liette received first team honors.

The softball team also had three players honored. Junior Karen Spahr and senior Jennifer Peavley received honorable mentions. Kelli Stanbaugh received first team.

The tennis team had the most players honored. Shawn Hodges and Shaun McGinnis received honorable mentions. Second team honors went to the doubles team of Randy Stark and Chris Asejage and the team of Sean Drees and Brian Luken. First team was received by Brian Shilt.

These players worked hard throughout the year to produce a most memorable season.

JCOWA, Junior Council on World Affairs, deals with issues concerning other countries, as well as the United States. On the other hand, Birchbark is interested in THS and the school's important issues and events.

In the fall, the JCOWA club attended the High School Institute at the Dayton Convention Center and was honored to hear as speaker Jean Kirkpatrick, U.S. ambassador to the U.N.

When the Model United Nations was held at Sinclair Community College, six students from JCOWA went. They represented the following countries: Canada, Barbados, Thailand, OAS, Sudan, and Bangladesh. At the mock U.N. they met with other Dayton-area JCOWA students and discussed and voted on foreign affairs much as the real U.N. does.

The annual study tour to Washington, D.C. and New York City was also popular. Nine students and advisors Mr. Ferrell and Mr. Collier spent their spring break on the East Coast. While in the Big Apple, they had a special treat seeing Liberace at Radio City Music Hall on opening night.

The Birchbark staff published five issues each centering around a main THS event. The first concerned Homecoming, the second a third, the major holidays of Thanksgiving and Christmas. The penultimate edition featured the Prom, and the last was the senior feature.

A number of activities had to be completed before actually sending the newspaper to press. These included the layout, writing, editing, and being taken, and captions and headlines made. The mass communications class, which is responsible for the Birchbark, also spent time in video training, including interviews, commercials, and lip-synchs. The class took two field trips, one to Channel 7 and the other to Dayton Newspapers, Inc. No matter what one's interest, foreign or domestic, THS offers an outlet.

The statue is scheduled to be finished by 1986, the 210 anniversary of the U.S.A. and 100 anniversary of the statue.

Student Aids Keep Busy Helping Others

They're the students who do the administration's drudge work, work such as filing, writing up the day's attendance, and chasing after footballs or hockey pucks. Though each group's work is different, the purpose remains the same: to free the professionals' time.

The library aids check books in and out of the media center and return them to their shelves. They make sure reference materials are in order. Library aids also deliver white slips notifying students of overdue books.

Students who answer phones and help keep up attendance for the secretaries are the front office aids. These girls also deliver special messages to students and faculty, as well as absence lists to the teachers.

Guidance office aids' main job is filing for the class counselors. There is much filing to do because there is information on schedules in the guidance office for every student at THS. Delivering green slips times for conferences between students and counselors is an additional task.

The gym aids do the most running around, however. They roll out mats for the gymnastic classes and pass out basketballs and team shirts for other classes. Timing runners in the track classes and raising the bar for high jumping are also jobs for them.

Aids may have the opportunity to get out of study hall, but they work for the privilege.

THS Organizations Benefit School and Community

Three THS organizations beneficial to the school and community this past year were Drama Club, Student Senate and National Honor Society.

The Drama Club members displayed their talent by putting on the musical Lil Abner. The club also formed a readers' theater and selected a theme of Dreams. Short stories and poems centering on this theme were selected.

The school reaped rewards from Student Senate in a variety of ways. Student Senate held the annual Homecoming dance and decorated a school Christmas tree for the front foyer. They also adopted two children.

Marceina Lopez G. from Semane and Trivino Francisco from Guadalupe-La Danta through Save the Children.

National Honor Society benefited the community by collecting for the Heart Fund door to door in town as a group. As individuals, they completed their own service projects. These included tutoring other students and making food baskets for the needy.

These active giving young people maintained the high THS standard once again.

OWE Offers Work Experience for THS Students

Attending classes, studying, working a maximum of thirty hours a week — THS Occupational Work Experience students are busy, busy, busy! After taking state-required classes in the morning, OWE students leave to work at various jobs in Tipp and the surrounding areas. These jobs may vary from retail sales to horticulture to industrial production. The on-the-scene supervisor acts as an extension of the THS educational process by teaching on-the-job skills needed to complete jobs successfully. These skills include safety, responsibility, dependability, positive work attitude, and employer-employee relationships.

As advisor to the program, teacher Bob Quinton coordinates training on the job with the related classroom courses. Besides learning work job skills, students are taught functional procedures used in everyday living such as con-umerism, banking, budgeting, social security and tax responsibilities, and personal insurance needs. In addition, students take required courses in math, social studies and English.

Although a maximum of twenty-five students may enroll in the class, students remain eligible only if they progress satisfactorily in both their class work and their jobs.

OWE Students Render Service to THS and Tipp

This year, as in past years, OWE students worked for a better school and community. One of their main fall projects was lining the soccer, football and band fields. They also enjoyed responding to a cheerleader request to build a Graham Falcon effigy for the Homecoming bonfire.

During the winter the students did much lifting, carrying, setting up and taking down of sports equipment, banquet chairs and tables, and performance flats and scenery. In the spring, junior baseball benefited from the students' work when they built an outfield fence at the city park. Clean-up work after

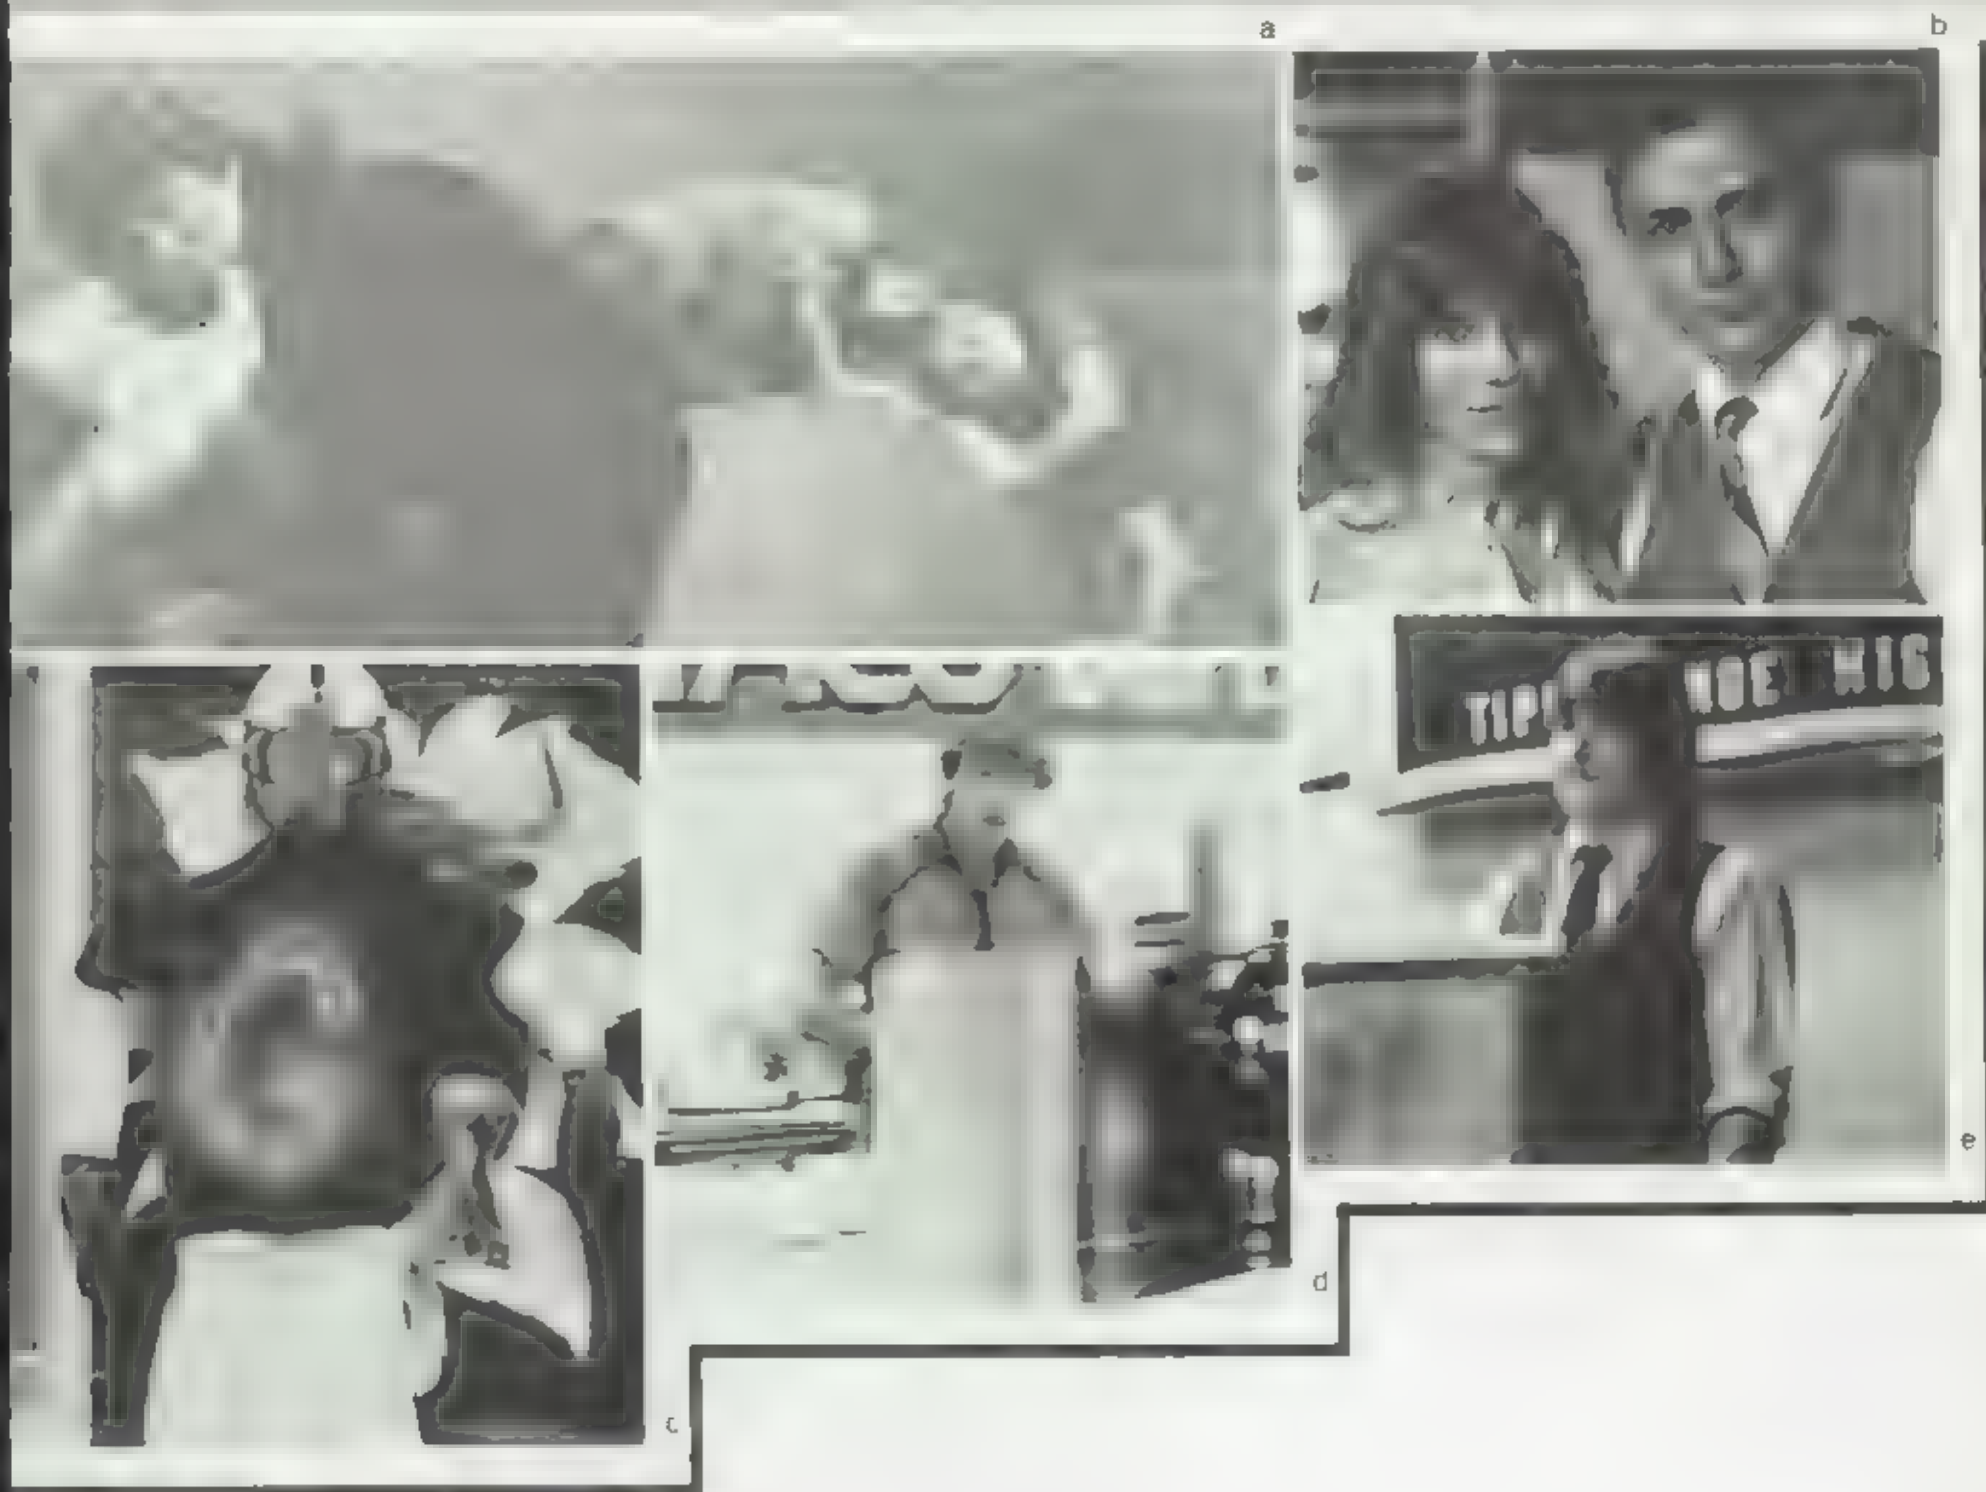

Senior Skits was also performed as service to the senior class

Thus, the OWE students at THS showed not only a responsible work ethic this year but also a responsible citizenship ethic.

Marching Band Feels Good About Season

"How do you feel?" "We feel good. Oh, we feel so good!" was the favorite answer. They felt they were the best band in the year.

Under the direction of Mr. Tim McAdams, they started with a set of performances at the Miami County Fair. A few days later band camp began, held again this year at Indian Hill. The work was hard, the 12-hour music was learned, routines were made up and the band was reviewed. They were the best band in the land." Just teaching all those people to step at the same time, for the same length, and in the same way was hard work but with a lot of fun. The show was put together.

After several early competitions, the band traveled to the King's Knights Invitational, where they competed in a contest sponsored by the Marching Bands of America. Performing at peak level, they placed third overall and for a competition, they placed seventh after losing against top bands in this league.

Choir Receives Straight I's at Contest

Sopranos, altos, basses, tenors, and director Deb Bringman made up the 1984-85 THS choir. What a year they had! But it was not all pleasure for these students. Fifty-minute practices each day began with warm-ups and ended with going over songs time and time again.

Performances started with the impressive fall concert. Right after this concert, students prepared for solo and ensemble contest, the Christmas concert, and state competition — all at the same time.

District competition at Troy High School earned the group straight I's. Superior and the right to compete at the state contest held at Meadowdale High School. There, the group earned an unprecedented series of all I's once again. For their accomplishment, the students each received a medal and a plaque.

After competition season, the choir buckled down to prepare for the spring concert. Decorating the gym to show the Celebration theme, as well as learning dance

Guard, Pep Band, and Devilaires Face Competition

During the winter while the athletes were competing, so were the Devilaires, pep band, and Le Garde du Démon Rouge. They went to competitions all over Ohio and performed their own original shows. Because the drill team was accompanied by the pep band, they entered the "live music" category, while the guard performed to pre-recorded music.

Having chosen movies as their theme, the Devilaires, placed first at Norwood for Music and Leadership, second at Meadowdale, and third at Beaver Creek. Some of the songs they chose were

"Far from Over" and "Live and Let Die."

When accompanying the Devilaires, the pep band was judged against other bands. The instrumental group placed first at both Norwood and Meadowdale. The band also played at basketball games and pep rallies to help raise the school spirit.

The pep band also competed well this year. In their most important competition, they placed seventh at the Brunswick Championships. They also finished respectfully at the World Guard International competition.

enterville. The theme for their show was Chorus Line. Mirrors to enhance the dance theme were used as props.

The three groups joined forces to hold their own competition at THS. Although it was a fierce day of competition for the invited groups, the three from THS performed for exhibition only. All three completed a very successful year.

Symphonic Band Earns Superior at District

Practices, check-offs, and performances are the life of a symphonic band student. Practices occur during seventh period every day and an extra hour after school before contest time. Check-offs consist of playing the music before the director, Mr. Schmidlapp. They insure all individuals can play their music without mistakes, therefore improving the overall score of the group at contests!

Contests went very well for the instrumental group. At the district contest in Troy, they received a (Superior) rating, qualifying them for the state contest. At the state contest held at Meadowdale High School, the band received a (Good) rating but were still pleased.

Two memorable performances were held at Christmas and at the ice cream social. During the latter, the band collaborated with both junior high bands on the songs "We Are the World" and "The Olympic Fanfare." This effort brought a standing ovation from the audience for the combined groups. The crowd recognition was a happy reward for the season's hard work.

Jazz and Chess Represent THS in Competition

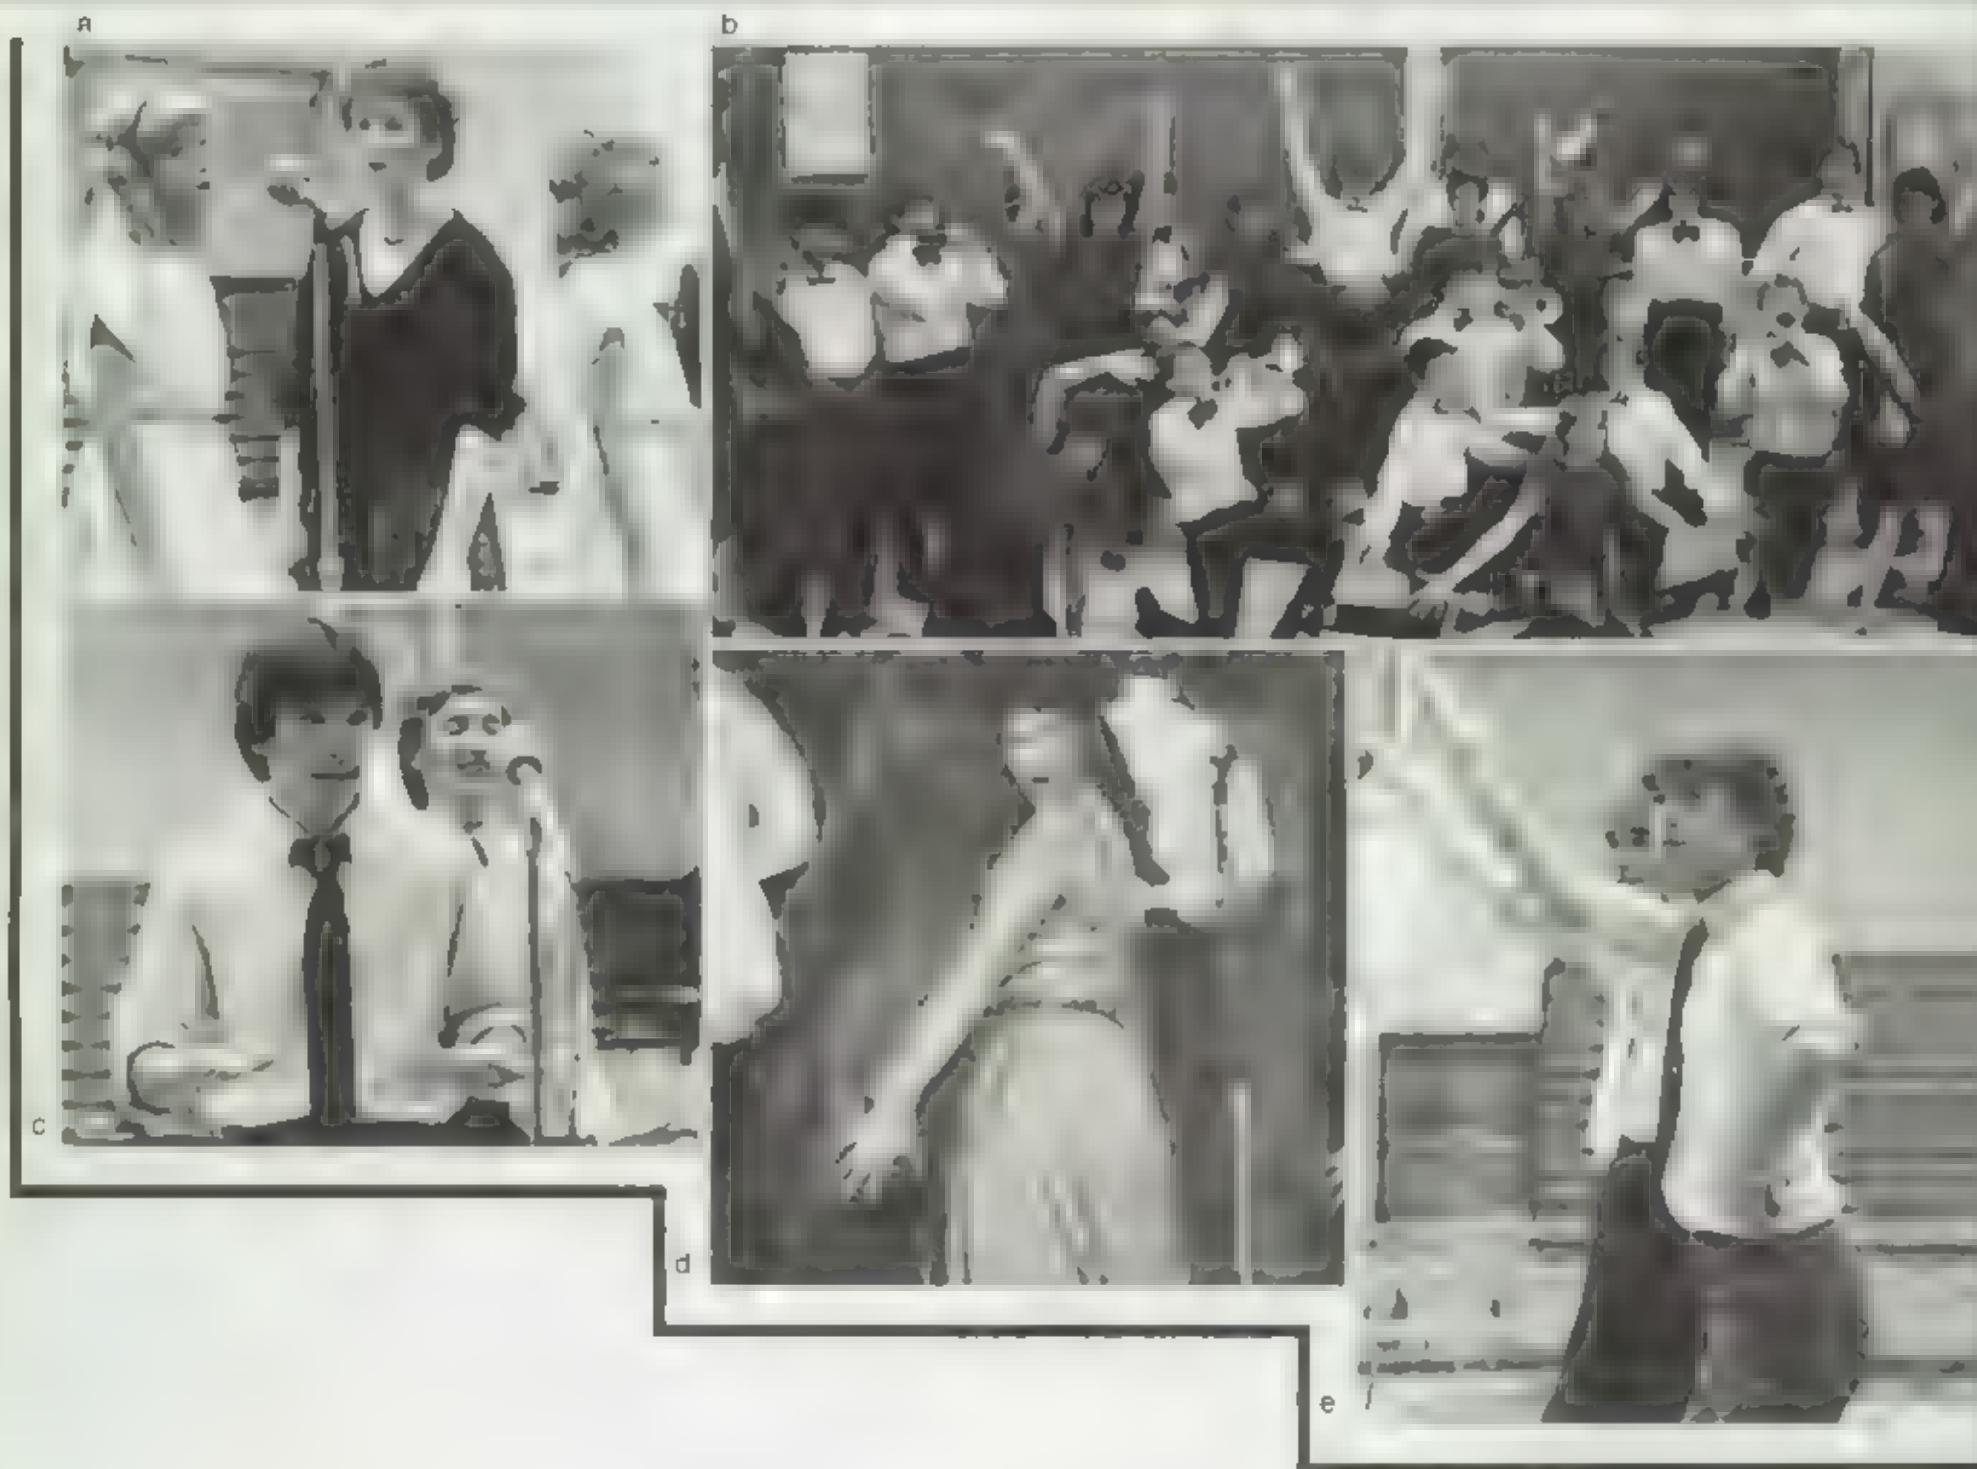

Both the jazz ensemble and the chess club had an outstanding year. They did a fine job representing the school in competition.

The Sound Sensation competed at a show choir competition in Piqua and placed fourth out of fourteen. A welcome surprise came when it was announced that the best male soloist of the event was Jeff Maxie. The group also performed in the annual Cabaret Show and for area organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce. Sporting new bright blue dresses and shoes for the girls and matching ties and cummerbunds for the guys, the group looked as sharp as it sounded merodic.

The chess club had a wonderful year in competition also. With a record of 18-6-1, they placed first in the Indian Valley League and second in the Dayton League. The tournaments usually lasted a day. A regular meet lasted from 45 minutes to 2½ hours, depending on the challenge.

Though the groups are very different in their activities, the reasons for taking part are similar to make good use of talents while at THS

Celebration '85 Picked as Sample Book

"Where did I put those pictures?" was just one of the many comments heard daily in the yearbook room. Layouts (page designs) were often misplaced also. However, slowly but diligently, the staff members and advisors worked together to complete and send to the publisher the 1985 Canoe, Celebration '85. Their hard work paid off because Taylor Publishing Company chose this Canoe as a sample for their sales representatives across the nation to use.

At a week long camp held in the summer, new staffers learned to produce a yearbook. Students developed their theme ideas, learned writing techniques, and created eye pleasing designs.

Though work continued into the summer to finish the Canoe, the editors were willing to forfeit their time usually from 9 am to 3 pm, 1 turn out a superb book, one which they hope the student body will enjoy

No Excuse for Excuses

Students BEWARE! The administration and faculty are on to the excuses students make.

One secretary recalls a student saying she could not get the dresser open to get clothes to dress herself and arrived at school late because of it. Getting a haircut prevented another student from attending school. One of the principals thought it was odd that a student felt a haircut was more important than school, and even odder that the haircut lasted six or seven hours.

Teachers receive dozens of excuses from late-to-class students, but "I got locked in the restroom stall" must have been a first. Another student stated, "Honest, I didn't bring my homework because we got a new puppy and it wet on it and I didn't think you wanted me to turn it in that way." A shocked look on the teacher's face appeared, followed by a burst of laughter.

One may think the opposite sex gives more excuses. At Tipp High School, the story is that males and females are about equal. Neither guys nor gals can lie and get away with it every time, and both can be lazy when they want.

The teachers are not fools and the administrators didn't get to their positions by being naive about the students' excuses. The fact is, they don't always know when it's the truth or just an excuse, but they have a good idea which is which.

Here is the warning to students. If an excuse is needed, think again or come up with some newer, better ones.

Psych Classes Study Death Stress Close Up

At one time or another we are all faced with the death of a friend or loved one. This usually proves to be a very difficult time.

If a student takes Psychology II, he will receive better understanding about death and dying and the stress it causes. The text for Psych II, which is open to juniors and seniors who have taken Psych I, contains a whole unit on the stress caused by death.

To help students learn to deal with the fact that everyone has to die sometime, Mr. Christian arranges for his Psych II classes to go to the Frings-Bayliff funeral home. Also, this trip demonstrates that there is nothing mysterious about a funeral home.

Mr. Bayliff answers any questions that students may have and then takes them on a tour. He shows the class the caskets and vaults, clothing, and the embalming room. He also explains different events that have happened and how he aids people in coping with stress.

The trip is educational and both Mr. Christian and Mr. Bayliff feel that this experience helps students to deal with death better and with greater understanding.

WTHS Rocks THS

On September 13, 1984, Jeff Varvel walked up to Brian Shilt and said, "Hey, you want to play some music during lunch?" With that question the WTHS noon show was born.

At first, the idea was to play popular music each day of the week. Then it appeared that there should be different types of shows. After that, shows such as Heavy Metal Feature Day, Rock Ballad Feature Day, Oldies Day, Feature of Group Artist Day, and a feature from a certain part of a year gone by began.

Another special day took place every two weeks — the "WTHS Top 10." A poll was taken and votes were accepted and tabulated into the Top 10. Also, two times, at the end of the first half of the year and the end of the second half of the year, a Top 30 year-end countdown was held. This took much organization and tabulation but was very successful.

The recording sessions took two hours at first, but after adjusting, Jeff and Brian could record in an hour. After a stereo-mixer modified the sound system, they could record a show in thirty or forty minutes. This mixer also improved the overall quality of the music coming through the speakers during lunches. The same tape was played and re-wound for the next lunch.

Jeff and Brian really enjoyed doing the show and hope they've set a trend for students to go by in the future. The station was sponsored by the Mass Communications class.

State Mandates CPR Training

Mr. Jim Judy has taught state-mandated rescue breathing and CPR techniques in at THS health classes for six years. He has found that at first most students are hesitant about using the three resusci-Anne dolls or the one baby but later they get in to it more. All students complete the practical on a pass/fail basis.

A student cannot be certified in CPR just by taking the high school course because there is not enough time in class to complete the hours of training needed to be certified. Students are qualified from the standpoint of knowing what to do, and the "Good Samaritan" law covers them if they give first aid to a victim.

What does one do for a person in respiratory arrest? The four primary steps to CPR are first, the shake-and-shout step. This is to find out if the person is conscious. Second is the airway step. In this step the air way is opened by tilting the head back and checking for breathing. Third is the quick step. Give four quick full breaths to the person if he is not breathing. Fourth is the check step. Check for a pulse and breathing for five to ten seconds.

Anyone completing the four primary steps will be able to tell what resuscitation technique to use. If the victim has a pulse but is not breathing, give rescue breathing at the rate of one breath every five seconds. If there is no pulse or breathing, administer CPR combination of chest compressions and rescue breaths.

Experience has taught THS students how very important learning CPR is. Last year a student using the information learned in class restored the breathing of a person with respiratory arrest. Nothing could be more important or satisfying than that.

Students Measure, Saw, Glue, Sand, Finish for Wildermuth

Does Tipp City have two future carpenters? It seems two students are on their way to becoming masters in this field.

Don Munch and Nick Winblad spent four busy weeks in February building a round kitchen table for Mr. Don Wildermuth. They began by gluing several boards together for the table top. After drawing the circumference with a large compass, they cut it to a 46-inch diameter.

They then glued four 8x8 boards together to make the 30-inch high pedestal. By turning it on the lathe, they were able to create an original pedestal design. After staining the solid pine wood a rich walnut color, they sanded it and finished it.

The cost of materials for the project was $125. Mr. Wildermuth estimated the market value of the table at between $350 and $400. He added, "The table is worth double the market value because it means a lot to me. The project was outstanding."

Triangles to Equations, Math League's Tough

All three sides of a (non-degenerate) scalene triangle have integral lengths. Find the smallest possible length of the shortest side of such a triangle.

What is that? It is one of the starting and easier problems on the Math League test, sponsored by the Ohio Mathematics League. The school advisor for Math League is Mr. Werts.

Held on either the first or second Tuesday each month, Math League runs from November to April. There are six tests and six questions per test. In order to continue with the test, a student must have two correct answers per test.

Of the 150 students who took the first test, 70 participated in the second this year. Thirty took the third and fourth tests. Leading students were Gary Warner, Jeff Hagan, Jennifer Lowry, Larry Weaver, and Jyle Monnin.

Statewide competition among high school students is one benefit. Also, Math League distributes awards to the students with the highest score in the school. Honorable mentions at the state level can also be won.

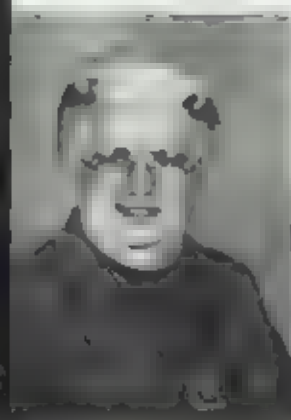

Tippecanoe placed first in the League in Miami County and tied for fourth in the District.

Care to compete with these students? Try the problem below.

One solution of the equation  $(xa)(xb)(xc)(xd) = 9$  is 2. If  $a, b, c,$  and  $d$  are different integers, find the value of  $a+b+c+d$ .

Freshmen Learn the Ropes the Hard Way

Being the lowest of the underclassmen, we thought that our freshman year in high school would be great. But now we know

During the first few weeks of school many of us newcomers to the high school found ourselves taking the long way around in search of our classes. Some of us were told stories of stairs that led either up or down, but never both ways. A few of us were sold passes that enabled us to enter the bathrooms or to walk down senior hall. Upperclassmen hassled us in the "Pond! Pond!" when running by some water during a cross-country practice.

We did many things that will probably make us laugh when we look back at our freshman year, but don't get the wrong idea. It may have been slow moving and rough in some spots, but we had a terrific time.

Freshmen Make Memories for Themselves

Writing diligently, finding odd coins asking friends for autographs, and throwing in their favorite good-luck pieces were all part of the fun when the Class of '88 wrote their Freshman Letters as an assignment in Mrs. Bishop's language classes.

What did they write about? Friends, school, movies, current events, and life in general were popular topics. Competition was in the air as peers tried to outdo each other and fill page after page.

Mrs. Bishop explained that she got the idea from a teacher who taught her when she was in school. Students

Fabulous, Frivolous Fashions

This school year, as in past years, brought with it many exciting new fads. Some were relatively normal, but some might be considered WILD and CRAZY!

The brightly colored Forenza sweaters were anything but quiet. These were worn to keep the entire student body AWAKE!

Jewels ranged from dangling, multi-layered earrings to solid gold, diamond-studded fingernails. All this gold gave "class" at school a new meaning.

Guys and gals were especially fond of jean jackets and cowboy boots. This style brought back the word "cool."

The most sought after hair fashion was known as "The Tail." A piece of long hair hung down the back from under the fashionable short cut. "The Tail" was sometimes braided, sometimes bowed, and sometimes hung loosely.

The only known significance to these fads was that they were US and they were FUN. And they were '84-'85.

Page 122: a. Cowboy boots and jean jackets were popular among the guys in '85. Todd Cook, Mike Shinkle, Richard Warner, Jim Lette and Todd Hartline look "cool" in their denim and leather. b. To be fashionable this year, one earring would not do. Nikki English models the multi-earring look that ranged from hoops to studs to dangles. c. "Tails" were a fad worn by both guys and gals. Here Pam McAdams, Kim Copley, and Sheri Vissoc model braided and loose styles for "The Tail." d. The gold-studded '84-'85 school year sparked with the wearing of one or more 14 carat gold fingernails. Some, like Mrs. Terrell's and Shelly Gilbert's held a diamond, too. Shelly Gilbert, Ivy Moore, Mrs. Terrell, and Debbie Steele add sparkling smiles to sparkling nails. e. Everyone was trying his skill at breakdancing this year. Showing how it's done at the Canoe autograph dance is freshman Tyler Heckman. Page 123: a, b Gold fingernails shined in the halls. Class keys, purchased from Josten's, were worn by most seniors. c. All the fads and fashions were really in style. Here, Tessie Graf tops her Forenza sweater with a jean jacket and adds fashionable accessories of three earrings and a colorful scarf. d. Earrings varied from studs to dangles. Tessie Graf shows how it was done. e. The Forenza sweater was popular among the girls this year. ## Stone, Style, Size Demand Dollars

What kind of stone do you want? What style are you going to order? When are they coming in? These questions echoed down sophomore hall during the late fall months. It was time for the tedious, yet joyful, process of ordering class rings.

In the beginning there were only meetings and brochures. Many of the sophomores were surprised that after consulting with friends, everyone had made the final choice. Now came the most dreaded, despicable, and downright dangerous part of ordering one's class ring — asking parents for the money. Tears, threats, and promises that Mother would never have to clean house again and Father would never have to empty the trash or mow the lawn again were used by desperate underclassmen. Of course, the parents conceded and the class rings were ordered.

Ordering was an adventure within itself. Sizing seemed easy enough. That is until the sized rings became stuck on one's finger because the ring was three sizes too small. Next, everyone prepared to fill out the order form. Five pens per sophomore ran out of ink, filling out those forms that made Webster's Dictionary look like the back of a cereal box. But, of course, the rings were ordered. The hardest part was over — right?

Wrong! The waiting had just begun.

After waiting for what seemed to be an eternity, sophomores were delighted to learn the rings had been delivered. Most were perfect and one could hear the typical, "But sweetheart, I just got it and it's so pretty I want to wear it for a while before I give it to you." As always there were a few mix-ups as a young girl looked at the Josten's salesperson and said, "I don't even know Eugene Howard Arbuckle III and I don't want his name on my ring." The proverbial husky athlete wasn't so calm as he exclaimed,

"Yes, I'm sure I don't want diamonds and fleur-de-lis on my class ring!"

In the end, all wrongs were righted. The class rings would be worn and treasured for years to come.

Tipp Meets Tomo

CLASS of 1987

This year one of our exchange students was Tomoko Hirano, from Iwakune, Japan. Tomo reports Tipp City's country fields, cows and piles of winter snow contrasted sharply with modern Iwakune's skyscrapers, taxis, and airport.

When asked about the home life in Japan Tomo said the greatest contrast was the food. Used to many more vegetables in her diet, Tomo liked the food here better because of the variety and different tastes.

When Tomo goes home, she'll face changes such as taking off her shoes before going into the house, wearing a uniform to school every day, and getting rid of her make-up, fingernail polish, and earrings. Also, Tomo will not be permitted to cut her hair or get a perm.

Tomo says that in Japan everyday after school the students clean the building because

At THS, Tomo liked the sports, the teachers, and most of all, the students. To her, the students here are friendly, funny, and rowdy all wrapped up in one

For fun, at home, Tomo does the same things she did here — goes shopping, runs around with friends, sees movies, and attends sporting events

Tomo recommends being an exchange student: "It's a lot of fun, learning new things and meeting new people. Although I had to learn a lot before I came here, it was all worth it"

THS students will miss Tomo. In her they have found a great person and a great friend. We all wish her good Luck

24 Below Produces a Heat Wave at Tipp

Temperatures hit a century low of 24 below. Drifts of snow were everywhere. As students were inside diligently working during February, other people did not have it so easy. Snow plows began clearing the snow around 4:00 a.m. each morning so that the school buses could pick up students. Dr. Beidler checked the roads each day before the buses began their routes. Luckily for the students, school was cancelled four different times, giving them a chance to sleep late.

THS students defied Old Man Winter one day though. On February 8 the halls were filled with the spirit of Heat Wave Day. Attire for the day ranged from T-shirts, shorts, and sunglasses to rubber suits, flippers, and goggles. Many of the teachers had to keep their eyes wide open as they walked down the halls for fear they might be hit by a beachball or a Frisbee.

Heat Wave Day, sponsored by Student Senate, was designed to break the monotony of everyday school work during the long, dark winter days. Even though the roads were filled with snow and ice, many of the students braved the cold in the skimpy outfits that reminded them of sunshine time.

The basketball team managed to carry the heat through the evening as they burned Miami East on the basketball court. The 68-55 victory helped Tippecanoe become the SRC Basketball Champs of 1985. The victory added a terrific spark to the end of a day, which was a day filled with fun and sunshine — HEAT WAVE DAY!

Chilean Exchange Student Visits

Chilean exchange student Christian Janssen experienced a bit of a cultural shock this year in moving from mountainous Santiago, a city of 4,000,000, to the flat farmland of Ohio.

Christian also found THS very different from his home school. At his home school, the teachers move and students remain in the same room. All classes are held in the morning and students are dismissed at noon. Class load was different for him too. Instead of taking chemistry, sports, physics, English, math, Spanish, German, computer programming, art, and music, Christian took just computer programming, gym, physics, American history, English, and Algebra II at THS. home he received numerical grades, 7 being the best and 1 being the worst. A real THS plus for him was not having to wear a school uniform as he does at home.

His free time in Chile was spent going to movies, running track, bowling, meeting with friends, playing soccer, and going to parties. In Ohio, he did not go to movies, but he did run track.

He says being an exchange student was an exciting experience, one he would love to try again because he enjoyed meeting all the new people. THS students enjoyed meeting him, too, and wish him the best of luck.

Juniors Take OWP Test

Cafeteria filled and hushed. Blue books open. Pens ready. Mr. Miller's voice reading the prompt.

In a detailed and unified essay, explain as clearly and specifically as you can what makes some people more popular than others in your high school. In what ways do the more popular people differ from the less popular? In explaining what accounts for popularity in your high school, try to use lots of concrete examples and illustrations.

Thus began Tippecanoe's participation in the Ohio Writing Project.

This year the Board of Education voted to become a part of the OWP, a project sponsored by the Ohio Board of Regents, Miami University, and local school districts such as Tipp.

As a first step, all juniors were tested in November by being asked to write a composition in 45 minutes on the above topic. Compositions were sealed and sent to M.U., where trained graders evaluated them on a scale ranging from 1 to 6, with 6 being the highest possi-

bie. The compositions were then rated on specifics such as unity, detail, organization sentence structure, grammar, and usage

Results came back in March and were distributed to the juniors by their language teachers. Those students receiving 5's and 4's were pleased to find that they were already writing on an acceptable college level. For others, it was helpful to find out just which skills they needed to work on

The next step occurred during the summer when Mrs. Beaver from the elementary level

Miss Brubaker from the junior high, and Mrs. Meinke from the high school attended a six-credit hour workshop at MU. Besides writing each day, these teachers heard lectures, read widely, and learned new teaching methods and evaluation skills. They will share their new knowledge in in-service workshops for all language teachers next year. Tipp is committed to improving the writing program for all students and is developing the program to do it

In the meantime, Class of 1987 get ready You're next. Good luck!

Campaign '84 Whistle Stops Through Tipp

On October 12, 1984, the person that every little boy and girl hopes to become came through Tipp City the President of the United States.

Arriving at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, President Reagan was escorted by many security officers to Dayton's Courthouse Square, where he addressed approximately 40,000 people. He talked about the past four years and the future, saying, "We will stick, stand, and move on together . . . nothing is going to stop us now." To the accompaniment of balloons, applause, and cheers, the President left in his limousine for the railroad depot to begin his campaign in Ohio. The first pause of the "Whistle Stop Tour '84 — Our Government on the Right Track" turned out to be Tipp City.

a. Children and adults from Tipp City wave good-bye to President Reagan. Although the President didn't stop in our town, the red, white, and blue spirit stayed. b. Students from Broadway Elementary await the arrival of the President. All of them were excused for the afternoon and escorted by their teachers to the tracks. c. The Ferdinand Magellan had been used earlier by President Truman. In 1984, President Reagan waves as Whistle Stop Tour '84 moves on. d. Directly behind the President's limousine are his security officers. Everyone learned security was tight at Dayton's Courthouse Square when they had to go through a metal detector to enter.

Meanwhile, in Tipp City, people began to gather around the railroad tracks. Students were excused from school while many merchants decorated their stores with banners. Soon the word raced through town that the President was coming. Excitement and anticipation filled the air. Then the first train came, one which carried the security officers. Soon afterwards a security helicopter flew over and spotted a man sitting on the roof of an old building. He was quickly escorted down. Then it came! The President's train, the Ferdinand Magellan, rolled through. President Reagan was seen waving to everyone.

Although the President's train only slowed down and did not stop, spectator spirit was tremendous. A sense of pride enveloped all. That pride carried over to election day November 6, 1984. President Reagan was re-elected for another term. Following the landslide election, the community of Tipp City felt it had been a part of the campaign. The election year of 1984 provided a moment to remember — one that will never be forgotten by THS students.

a Escorted out of Dayton, the President is taken to Union Station. From there, he began his tour through Ohio. b. Courthouse Square was filled with many people. A "Fritz Buster" awaits the President's arrival. c. Unable to get in, anti-Reagan demonstrators picket several blocks from Courthouse Square. d. Bearing proud campaign slogans the Ferdinand Magellan made its way from Dayton to Toledo, stopping frequently for cheering crowds.

JVS Students Choose Work and School

Students who attend Montgomery County Joint Vocational School learn skills that enable them to enter the work force either during or right after high school. Unlike THS students who further their education in the classroom all day, JVS students spend part of their days in job-related activities. The decision whether or not to attend JVS is made before the junior year and after completing required courses at THS. The choice is not an easy one, but whether the student chooses THS or JVS he can count on receiving an excellent education

Page 140: a Bonny Dehus makes a list for one of her classes. As a senior, she has gained much knowledge of the fashion industry at JVS. b Mitch Koogier knows that to be a first rate officer is to be a smart officer. Taking notes and paying attention in class are keys to success. c Listing her activities for the past four years at IHS and JVS is Amy Krepner. Attending JVS widened rather than limited her choices in high school. d. Bill Crawford applies his education in electronic communications. As a junior, he has yet another year to further his training before entering the work force or going on with his schooling. e. Cindy Hamby practices her dental technician skills on Laura Yunker. Cindy is to prepare the patient's teeth before the dentist checks them. Page 141: a. Kim Wilder, as a future medical secretary, must be very handy with a typewriter. She will also help keep files in order when actually on the job. b. Dan McKittrick takes a moment's break during a colorful day. Working with various colors is part of his art study. c. Cleaning auto parts and keeping them in good shape is part of Henry Orput's job in learning Auto Body. d. Rodger Wahlerl studies his books to insure good grades. A high grade point average is important to both IHS and JVS students.

JVS Juniors: Scott Anderson, Light Duty G/D Mechanics, Ron Armstrong, Aircraft Mechanics, Derek Couch, Aircraft Mechanics, Bill Crawford, Elec. Communications, Sean Daniel, Elect. Industrial, Melissa Drewing, Legal Secretary, Mike Ervin, Auto Mechanics, Cindy Hamby, Dental Assistant, Mark Kielbaso, Carpentry, Pam Kocks, Fashion Merch., Rachel Matthews, Fashion Merch., Dan McKittrick, Graphic Comm. Art, Jennifer Merkle, Exec. Secretary, Johnny Morris, Carpentry, Henry Orput, Auto Body, Kelly Paulus, Cosmetology, James Rohrer, Auto Mechanics, Darla Smith, Legal Secretary, Robert Spriggs, Light Duty G/D Mechanics, Orvetta Thompson, Cosmetology, Molly Trupp, Cosmetology, Cindy Wagner, Child Care, Rodger Wahlerl, Machine Trades, Jeff Jankowski.

JVS Students Choose Work and School

Life at JVS is similar to life at THS. For example, juniors study English and composition; seniors take American history and government. In addition to taking part in THS sports, clubs, and organizations, JVS students can take part in activities and clubs offered at JVS.

Lunch follows class work. Things are a bit different for JVS students, however. They receive an hour for lunch and eat in the cafeteria run by their fellow students studying restaurant management. Also, because JVS draws from a two-county area, students have the opportunity to make friends from all over. JVS or THS — either is a good choice, according to one's own goals.

Page 142: a. Keeping their brushes clean while working are Kelly Paulus and another student. A vital part of cosmetology is cleanliness. b. Elizabeth Howell and Belinda Prewitt take time out to relax during a hectic day. JVS incorporates working, in addition to academics, for a complete day. c. In charge making specific parts in Machine Trades is Kevin Harmon. With this experience, Kevin can be employed immediately after graduation. Susan McGraw learns first and the business of styling hair. Much ingenuity is needed to create a "different" hair style. Page 143: a. Jill Wallach uses a computer to help her design art work such as business cards. She is learning to use a computer to help her design art work. Amy Trupp writes notes for her cosmetology class. Special tips come in handy when on the job. c. Answering phone calls, typing, and taking shorthand are jobs Jennifer Merkle will need as an executive secretary after she completes her schooling. d. Michelle Voorhees works with light boards during her graphic printing class. She'll be entering a large field after graduation as graphic printing is used everywhere in society. e. James Rohrer works not only on auto engines but also on axles and brakes. As an auto mechanic, he must be able to work quickly and, above all, effectively.

JVS Seniors: Jimmy Allison Diesel Mechanics, Brian Anderson Law Enforcement, Tracy Bennett Child Care, Meelle Bradley Word Processing, Julie Brewer Data Processing, Jeff Colbert Light Duty G. D. Mechanics, Ernie Coe

Time and UD — From Reading to Research

From a weekly magazine to a seven story library, seniors got "hands on" reading this year. Such cover stories as "Medical Miracles" (artificial heart patient Schroeder), "The Second Term" (four more years for Reagan), "A Detective's Story" (Schevchenko describes the Krenov), "Star Wars" (arms taken in Geneva), plus MORE covered seniors' minds. All seniors were encouraged to subscribe to Time magazine at a student rate. And government teachers Mr. Cochran and Mr. Chaney. Time was used to inform the students about national and international news. Mr. Cochran gave his classes periodic quizzes to make sure the students read.

Not only did the seniors read the articles assigned, but some also read for pleasure. Included in this pleasure reading were short articles concerning people, medicine, music, and cinema. However, some cover stories were also given extra time by the students. One moving story was that of India's disaster. Located in central India, a Union Carbide pesticide plant leaked, killing over 2,500 people. The question of human progress vs. human frailty needed an answer. Another story that created much controversy was the one about subway vigilante Bernhard Goetz. Approximately 47% of Americans approved of Goetz' actions in shooting four black youths who demanded live fares. At first, Goetz was indicted only for illegal possession of handguns, but a second trial charged him with four counts of attempted murder and more. Such stories interested seniors and caused lively discussion during government classes.

Although Time magazine was probably not a source for many English literature papers, "hands on" reading was continued in March when Mrs. DeMarco's classes spent a day at the University of Dayton library. Even though the tall library looked confusing from the outside, it turned out to be easy on the inside. Splitting the day, some seniors worked on periodicals in the morning while others looked for books on their English topics. Then, afterward, the groups switched. Having to find three sources was easy for most, but running from one floor to an open copy machine on another floor was distressing. However, with the help and patience of Mrs. Tolelson, Mr. Cochran, Mr. Rogers, and Mrs. DeMarco, most students found the day to be very rewarding for their term papers. At the end of the day, some were discouraged, but all the students felt comfortable that they had mastered a college library.

Jobs Make More Cents

"Let's go to the mall!"

"How about King's Island on Saturday?"

"No, I don't have extra money to spend."

Each of these could be heard from the many students who had jobs. However, seniors with jobs may have said the last one the most.

At first, many seniors began their working careers early for the extra money. Girls wanted to buy clothes that Mom wouldn't buy because she didn't like the new fashions. Guys enjoyed the idea of remaking an old car into a sleek hot rod. (Unfortunately, the girls entertained thoughts of cruising in a brand new convertible.) Many more fantasies came from every employee, but as their senior year approached, upperclassmen began to see their futures loom before them. Then, the decision about whether to go to college came, giving them another reason to work.

Approximately 41% of the senior class worked during the school year. Although this may seem a small number, the majority also played sports, were active in clubs, and kept good grades. Many of the working seniors put between fifteen and twenty-five hours in a week — plus thirty hours of school. They also had to squeeze in homework, extracurricular activities, and sleep.

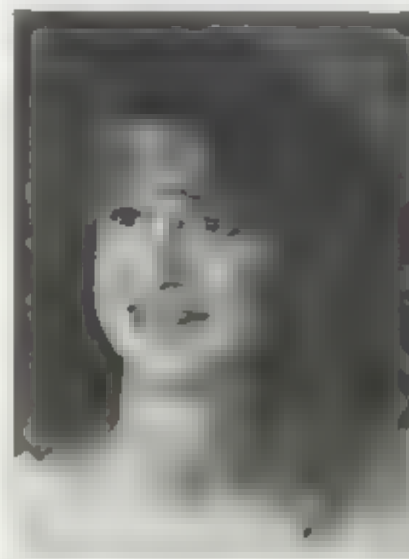

Most of those working were employed by Tipp City businesses. These included McDonald's, Ponderosa, IGA, and Murphy's Mart. Some worked in the neighboring cities of Troy and Vandalia. Seniors who attended JVS were often employed in Dayton by the co-op program. This program allowed the students to learn on the job skills in their particular fields.

Although they did not become millionaires by frying Big Macs or waiting tables, students found jobs also important for the friendships that were made. But where did all that money always go?

Seniors Opt for Art

Perhaps a good name for the Class of '85 would be the Culture Club. No, not with Boy George, but instead with the arts. Twice, for American government and for English literature, seniors were able to attend plays pertaining to their studies. The plays were Have and Macbeth.

Presented by Cincinnati Playhouse in the Park, Have centers around a small socialist village in Hungary. In this village, rich men are dying unexpectedly, and their widows are becoming wealthy as a result. However, when a young man joins the army, his ambition for a promotion is as great as his love for a young village girl. The plot thickens when this girl is persuaded to marry a wealthy widow, who then suddenly dies shortly after the wedding. The young man discovers that the women have been killing their husbands in order to have land and wealth. Caught in the middle, the girl confesses to her lover that she killed her husband and to be with him.

Most seniors who attended enjoyed Have but considered the ride to Cincinnati and back in school buses quite an experience. Packed like sardines, the students forgot the discomfort on the way down when Mr. Cochran had to get off the bus to ask a man on the street where the playhouse was located. Then, the ride back was made easier because of lunch. Seniors were permitted to go to Wendy's, Hardee's, Long John Silver's, and other restaurants. The last half of the trip home went as fast as the windows came down when a distinctive country's deodorant wafted through the air.

Macbeth, attended by English literature students, was presented by London's Old Vic touring company at Dayton's Victory Theater. All seniors were encouraged to go to the Saturday matinee because of their own study of Macbeth. Of the approximately thirty students who attended, most found the first half quite easy to follow because the lines were the same as those already studied in class. The second half was more difficult for them to follow because they had not yet read it in class.

Disappointed with only the scenery and costumes, the majority felt the play was well done. With a taste for the arts, the seniors were proud to have attended a performance by the Old Vic.

From Green Frosh to Seasoned Seniors

In the fall of 1981, our Class of 1985 joined to become one. Feelings were mixed between the rival students of Central and L. T. Bat Middle School. However, the excitement of being in high school outweighed all other emotions. We soon found out that the talk at freshman orientation about the upperclassmen was just plain talk. They were actually quite helpful.

Getting into the groove was easy. We started by electing our own officers: president, Amy Canan, vice-president, Shaun McGinnis, secretary, Todd Hartline, and treasurer, Katie Oaks. The groove turned into excitement during Homecoming season. Working on the float for the big game paid off when we took first place. Freshman attendant was Debbie Trout, escorted by Todd Hartline. After this, we sold pizzas to earn money for the Prom, which seemed so far away.

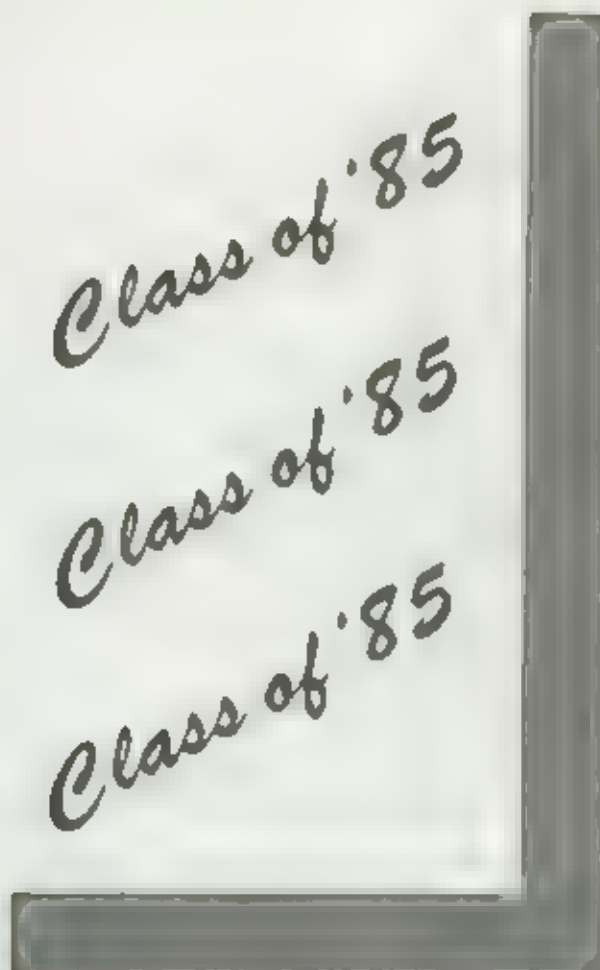

However, the excitement ended second semester during the Romeo and Juliet movie. Then Mrs. Alder's bent for discipline became fact to the Class of '85. We learned. As our freshman year came to a close, we looked forward to being sophomores.

Told that the sophomore year was "in the middle," we made our way up and down those stairs many times. However, they didn't hold back the excitement of class rings and turning sixteen. We ordered our rings early in the year. They finally came in December and that's all we talked about. Before they came, we enjoyed Homecoming. Jennifer Peavey was named attendant and Jeff Varve, escort. We combined with the junior class and built a float depicting the dance theme.

Under class president Rhonda Fritzsche, vice-president Todd Hartline, secretary Kim Brubaker, and treasurer Katie Oaks, we sold jewelry for our Prom fund raiser. Between games, meets, dances, and hearing about who got cars for their birthdays, the sophomore year came to a close.

Our junior year was an unforgettable year in all respects. We were now UPPERCLASSMEN, and with this title came responsibilities, as we soon learned. The site for Prom was picked early in the year. It would be held at the Greek Orthodox Center, a place chosen by class president Rhonda Fritzsche, vice president Todd Hartline, secretary Jennifer Peavley, and treasurer Anita Evans.

This year was one that brought everyone together, not only us as a class but as a school. We realized what friends were from the tragic deaths of our own classmates Lisa Owens and Pam Zimmer and also from the death of freshman John Schaeffer. It seemed, for them, we would make the next two years the best.

Chosen this year to represent our class on the Homecoming court were Anita Evans and Kelly McGee.

The last fund raiser of our career was selling M&M's. We sold them and sold them and sold them, but it was well worth the effort. For the first time we were able to purchase glass favors for each couple at Prom. Our farewell to the Class of '84 was a success.

After Prom, we realized that in five short months we would be the leaders of the school. Soon enough, decisions about graduation were upon us. As we left the school for the summer, we had only one thought: 180 more days.

And the state req's were made the 180 days stick. Each of us came to school angry that we didn't get out the week before graduation as others had in the past. However, with the help of Student Senate cheerleaders, and the Canoe staff, our own Celebration '85 was in the making. The spirit of the school was tremendous. On Homecoming night queen Anita Evans and king Todd Hartline smiled brightly as our football team won its first game in two seasons.

The year moved even faster as we captured many SAC championships. With the spirit rolling, the year was full of wins, and together we captured the A Sports trophy.

Between the games, meets, and other events, we ordered our announcements, caps and gowns, and voted on class flower, colors, and song. Graduation was just around the corner and we had so much to do.

Prom was one event that will last in our hearts forever. Jeff Varvel and Debbie Trout were crowned king and queen on April 27 at the Mandalay Banquet Center.

Now, with the countdown starting, we voted on superlatives, picked up the announcements, and received our caps and gowns. Meetings were held during seventh period to organize skits, and rehearsals were planned. We had tea with the Ladies Civic Club and lunch with the Rotary. It seemed like hustle and bustle until May 21.

The evening of May 21 was a night never to be forgotten. Together we laughed and cried at our Senior Skits. Excited about graduation, but yet hesitant, we b'd farewell to THS and fellow classmates — friends for four years.

Graduation rehearsal was here and then gone. Finally, the big day came. June 2, 1985, the Class of '85 turned their tassels. Valedictorian Eric Long and salutatorian Dave Renneke spoke about desire and happiness. Together, we had made it, only to start anew once again.

The Tassel Is Worth the Hassle at THS

Some seniors may have questioned the saying on the senior T-shirts, but most agreed that the hassle for the tassel made their four years fun and challenging. However, the "hassle" ended on June 2, 1985, when the graduating class marched to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance" at Hobart Arena.

Rev. Walter Hensley began the ceremony with an invocation. Then class vice president Todd Hartline introduced salutatorian Dave Reineke. Rhonda Fritzsche, class president, then introduced valedictorian Eric Long. Both spoke to their peers about facing the future with determination.

A brief interlude of entertainment was presented by senior Mark George, who played a trumpet solo. Vocalists Stacey Thuma and Deborah Green sang "Passages," a song that inspired all seniors.

Then Dr. Beider and Mr. Deeter presented many scholarship awards, totaling an estimated $40,000. Among these scholarships were even G.F. and Marie Kesser scholarships of $1,500 each. Also, other scholarships from civic organizations were awarded. Principal Norman Deeter then presented the red and white robed class to the school board president Ronald McAdams, who presented the class with their diplomas.

After the tassels were turned to the right side, the Class of 1985 marched from the arena to live up to their motto: "Do not follow where the path may lead. Go instead where there is no path and leave a trail."

Seniors Choose Super Seniors

Spring season brought many decisions for every senior. The selection of colors, caps, gowns, and the anticipation of graduation filled the class. However, the excitement of choosing senior superlatives caught everyone digging through old yearbooks and looking at each other. In April, nominations for the best guy and gal for each category began. With twenty-two separate categories, each senior had many decisions to make. The results of nominations were handed back at a senior breakfast after they had been turned in and then tabulated by the senior class officers. The final vote was taken. Announced over the loudspeaker during the Morning Show in May, winners were surprised and happiness filled many. The Class of '85 was well represented by its Senior Superlatives.

Celebration

'85

our style

In August we were eager to begin In May we were eager to end, but perhaps a little more hesitant

Welcomed by balloons and banners, we began Celebration '85 in high spirits. This newly found spirit brought a sense of pride and with this pride we kept the old traditions and added a few of our own

Our new traditions began immediately with STUDS STUDS brought the Nerds, the Beach, and Toga to the student section at the football games. Chanting our cheer "Shake," we helped the team to its single victory — Homecoming. The autumn colors of Homecoming's "Enchanted Forest" danced into the hearts of many, especially queen Anita and king Todd, for an enjoyable weekend

The long wait for Christmas break seemed shortened because of more new traditions. The administration allowed us to have many more assemblies than in the past. Pep assemblies were enjoyable with the many new skits. Plus, the Noon Show was introduced at all lunches. DJ's Jeff Varvel and Brian Shilt kept us up-to-date on the latest music trends

After Christmas vacation, we came back to a winning winter season, which paved the way to the All Sports Trophy. We held our heads high because the SRC began only three years ago and we continued our tradition of winning the All Sports Trophy for the third year in a row. We congratulated the soccer, golf, boys and girls basketball, wrestling, and girls track, who earned the championship titles for us

Spring brought yet another new tradition to THS. Sponsored by the junior class, the Coming Home dance was fun for us all. Besides this, we also had our musical Li'l Abner and Prom, where Debbie Trout and Jeff Varvel were crowned. Lastly, Senior Farewell and graduation ended our Celebration '85

With these new traditions and our old ones, we grew as a community, as a school, and as individuals. Our year ended with many smiles and some tears, but we knew that our memories and friendships would last a lifetime

Friendship is a priceless gift
 That cannot be bought or sold.
 But its value is far greater Than a mountain made of gold.
 For gold is cold and lifeless;
 It can neither see nor hear.
 And in the time of trouble,
 It is powerless to cheer.
 It has no ears to listen,
 Nor heart to understand.
 It cannot bring you comfort,
 Or reach out a helping hand.
 So when you ask God for a gift,
 Be thankful that he sends,
 Not the finest pearl or riches,
 But the love of real, true friends.

from Senior Farewell

Kristin,
 You're one of my very closest friends! You've helped me through the toughest times in my life!
 You are always there when I need to talk & I love ya for that!
 I hope I can help you through all the bad times, like you helped me!
 Remember nothing is as bad as it seems & soon enough, will be laughing about it! I'm so glad we've become so close & I hope it stays that way!
 Good luck in all that you do! And especially w/ the guys!! You better wish me luck! I think I'm going to need it!

Love ya lots!
 Nicole

Kristin-
 WELL WHAT CAN I SAY? WE'VE BEEN THROUGH ALOT - ESPECIALLY THIS YEAR - I'M GLAD WE ARE STILL FRIENDS THROUGH IT ALL. I HOPE THERE WILL BE ALOT OF HAPPY
 MEMORIES TO COME AND I ALSO HOPE THAT THINGS WILL WORK OUT FOR THE BETTER. GOOD LUCK THROUGH HIGH SCHOOL BE GOOD!

LOVE YA,
 TRACEY AND MCKITICK

Kirstin,

So a really sweet, caring & cute gal who I'm glad I met this year. Thanks for everything you've done & I hope we get to go out again real soon.
We ought to ya know! It was fun!! I hope every-thing works out between you & your man who ever it may be. I hope we're friends for a long time any I'd hate to lose you. I think you & Jeanne have really helped me adapt to Jipp. Thanks!
Remember the good times & remember me. Good luck once again with whatever you do!!
